FUND FOR THE REPUBLIC

Various individuals and organizations in this country have been very critical of the Covernments loyalty-security program and are attempting to minimize the danger of communism. Estable in this group is the Fund for the Republic, which, since its inception in 1951, has been severely criticized for having undertaken various projects, making grants, and distributing naterials described by critics as slanted, biased and pro-communist. Our Special Kemoranda Unit has been alosely following the activities of the Fund and has been promptly analyzing and reporting its activities to the Director and the Attorney General wherever appropriate. The Unit has in the past and will in the future continue to be alert to the Funds dubious activities and to make suggestions for bringing them out into the open for public attention.

Gince its inception the Find has undertaken and/or completed various projects which have been severely criticized as slanted, bicoed, and discontinted. For emple, in 1953 the Fund undertook a project to study the Communicating Luciece in American life. In Cotober, 1988, it hired Earl Erowder, former head of the Communicat Party, UCA, ca a source of information and res naterial. The edutechility of hiring Drowder was severally questioned by various commentators and uriters due to Prouder's prior Communist background and the fact that he had repeatedly refused to furnish information on the subject of Communica to the FDF and the Department of Justice. In 1954 the Fund exarted a great to the Cerrie Charmon Catt Lenorica Fund, Inc., to sponsor community discussions regarding basto rights of Azortegia. Perphlots, which had been distributed in connection with the Freedom Loands discussion groups, tend to minimize the Communist mendee in this country and erecte a concern regarding the alleged vanishing civil liberdies and constitutional richts. Uniters of sens of these perphiete have been identified with pro-Comunist cotivities. In 1855 the Fund distributed a book entitled, Toos Ctudios in Personnel Cacurity," which was propored by Adam Fermalinsky, a staff member. The book purports to be a survey of 23 ceso histories of individuals those ecoss pero processed under vertous personnel security programs. Icraslingly ciatts in his book that his colociton of casos was limited to those which were released for publication and distribution, although he had reviewed hundreds of such essea. This fact, he said, may have had an offect on the scaples used. In edition, Termolinaky's so-called survey did not contain the benefit of the Government's records concerning these ecces.

In January, 1955, the Fund completed and distributed the "Dibliography on the Communicat Problem in the United States," which contains literature relating to Communism in the United States since 1910. Following its release, the bibliography was severely attacked by writers and scholars as being incomplete in that it left out entitled Communist writings. The Fund publicly committed this error in Later, 1955, and stated that the book would be rewritted to correct the mistage.

To date the Fund has distributed thousands of pooks, articles, parphieto, and other pertinent material to various libraries, educational institutions, attornays, professors and achoolications, and to the general publications of those writings have been attacked as being false and containing mislading statements. They have been actacked as term can containing mislading statements. They have been actacked as term containing mislading statements.

BACKGROUND

Public Comment

"The Communist cause in America has had a lucky break."

These are the words of the editor of U.S. News-and World Report, the nationally known correspondent, David Lawrence, in referring to The Fund for the Republic.

In considering the effect of the Fund, Lawrence points out these discordant features:

- 1. The $15,000,000 for the creation of the Fund was originally derived from the free-enterprise system through the diligent and inventive efforts of the late Henry Ford.
- 2. This money was being used to help persuade the people of the United States that Communist activity in America has been insignificant and unimportant.
- 3. Yet, one of the main objectives of Communism is to destroy this system which provided the $15,000,000.

As an additional interesting factor, Mr. Lawrence stated that:

"To be able to mobilize $15,000,000 to carry on a political propaganda and to put it in a fund which is exempt from paying income taxes is quite an achievement for any cause however well intentioned...."

Charlotte (N. C.) Observer, August 31, 1955

Part

Another nationally known columnist, George Sokolsky, made a public appraisal of the Fund at a much earlier date. On March 9, 1953, Mr. Sokolsky reported that the Fund was undertaking an enterprise which required scrutiny because of the nature of the institution and its entrance into political activity.

Times-Herald (Washington, D. C.), March 9, 1953

Under the date line of September 16, 1955, Washington correspondent John Kelso reported a mounting public demand that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee launch a full-scale probe of The Fund for the Republic.

Boston Post, September 17, 1955

The Fund for the Republic has been the subject of public and critical inspection by other persons and organizations in the United States including both public figures, newspaper and radio people, and significantly The American Legion. The Fulton Lewis, Jr., radio broadcast of September 12, 1955, supplied the views of Mr. Seaborn P. Collins, then National Commander of The American Legion. In regard to the Fund, the following comments were attributed to Mr. Collins:

The Fund is trying to propagandize Americans into believing that

- 1. Communism never has been and is not now a serious danger in this country.
- 2. Sinister forces under the pretext of fighting Communism are the real danger and threaten the civil liberties of all America.
- 3. Security measures are un-American and are being used to harass and persecute innocent people.
- 4. Intelligent and educated people are aware of these things but are opposed by the ignorant who are being misled by evil demagogues.

The Evening Star (Washington, D. C.), October 4, 1955 Newark (N. J.) Star Ledger, October 4, 1955

Other analyses and criticisms of the activities of The Fund for the Republic will be considered in the following pages in light of the Fund's policies, objectives, leadership, personnel, plans, products and related activities.

ORIGIN

The official report of The Fund for the Republic states that it was authorized by the trustees of the Ford Foundation in October, 1951, and a million dollars appropriated for it at that time. In February, 1953, the Ford Foundation appropriated $14,000,000 additional for the Fund and it assumed a "completely-independent status."

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 9-10

LOCATION

New York and California

The Fund for the Republic, Inc., has two offices, one being at 60 East Forty-second Street, New York City; the other at 1444 Wentworth Avenue, Pasadena, California.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 6

POLICIES AND OBJECTIVES

The official report of the Fund dated May 31, 1955, includes material regarding the proclaimed policies and objectives of the Fund. These are being stated briefly with the more obvious related factors to assist the reader in appraising the nature of the Fund and its activity.

Duration and Expenditures

The Fund states that it was established to deal with problems which exist today, spending its principal as fast as can be judiciously done, and not engaging in long-range research.

It may be pertinent to balance these claims with the May 31, 1955, financial report of the Fund. This report disclosed that since its incorporation in December, 1952, the Fund had spent but a small portion of its total assets. Of the original $15,000,000, (plus interest on investments), the Fund had total assets of $12,877,748. Against this, the Fund had liabilities of accounts payable of $8,416, leaving a balance of $12,869,332. In addition, the Fund was contingently liable for $317,500, payable upon fulfillment of certain conditions.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 32

Tax Exemption

On January 20, 1954, the Treasury Department ruled that The Fund for the Republic was exempt from income taxation under section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code (1939).

Hearings, Special Committee to Investigate Tax-Exempt Foundations and Comparable Organizations, 83rd Congress, Part II

Section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code (1939) grants an exemption to:

"Corporations, and any community chest, fund, or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation."

26 U.S.C.A. (I.R.C. 1939) 101 (6)

Also see 26 U.S.C.A. (I.R.C. 1954) 501 (C) (3).

Fund Objective

The Fund briefly states that its objective is to advance understanding of civil liberties.

> Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 10, 22

This stated objective has been scrutinized and the ability or intention of the Fund to fully carry out its objective has been questioned by the press, radio and members of Congress.

The members of the board of directors of the Fund signed a press release dated September 28, 1955, in which they reaffirmed their faith in its purposes and stated that the Fund hoped to make a contribution to the better understanding of effective procedures for dealing with the Communist menace while at the same time strengthening the American tradition of liberty and freedom.

Neutrality

The Fund claims a neutrality in that it takes no position on matters relating to guilt by association, the conduct of congressional investigations and administrative hearings, the suppression of "conscientious non-conformity," or other such issues beyond affirming its faith in the principles of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. Simultaneously, it reports such positive positions as:

"The range of suspected persons has been enormously extended by resort to guilt by association."

"The evidence offered to show that a man is a danger to American institutions has often been farcically remote."

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 11-12

The Fund does believe, according to its report, that the American people must take a position and the Fund will help supply the requisite information to keep them informed.

A report of a congressional committee doubted the neutrality of the Fund. According to this report, the publicly expressed opinions of Fund leader-ship on subject matters within the scope of activity of the Fund are too well known to permit the conclusion that the public was to be assured of an objective study.

Tax-Exempt Foundations-Report of the Special Committee to Investigate Tax-Exempt Foundations and Comparable Organizations, House of Representatives, Eighty-third Congress Second Session on H. Res. 217, December 16, 1954

It can readily be seen that with $15,000,000 for educational purposes the Fund could be an instrument for great public service if its projects were impartially and judicially presented. On the other hand, if the Fund seeks to establish preconceived views by some of its leaders it could become a divisive and disruptive force of great moment.

Independence from the Ford Foundation

According to the Fund's May 31, 1955, report, the Fund has not asked the Foundation to approve the policies of the Fund and the Foundation has not sought to exert influence over the Fund.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 10

This independence from the Ford Foundation has been the subject of public comment. As one columnist, George Sokolsky, stated

"...it is impossible to believe that the Ford Foundation, which provided the enormous sum of $15 million for the Fund, has absolutely nothing to say about it. It may be the truth, but it is not reasonable...."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, October 11, 1955

Fund Responsibility

Among the material that has been distributed by the Fund was an article, "The Kept Witnesses" by Richard H. Rovere, appearing in the May, 1955, issue of Harper's Magazine. In response to a newspaper reporter's inquiry as to whether the Fund could vouch for the accuracy of the article, the spokesman for the Fund was quoted as saying, "We don't vouch for anything."

In the "Editor's Opinion" column of a Newark, New Jersey, newspaper dated October 4, 1955, a reaction to this view appeared:

"It seems to us that this is highly irresponsible behavior for an organization which claims to be seeking the truth."

Fulton Lewis, Jr., eduised the Cureau on 10-20-55 that he had a long talk with F. Coleman Andrews, Chief of the Internal Revenue Sarvice, who taid that their investigation of the Fund would neet assuredly cause the Fund to lose its tam-exempt status; that this gould also happen to the Ford Foundation. Lewis used this information on his 10-20-55 brockeast. (100-391697-250)

According to the 11-11-55 issue of the "Eashington Post and Times Herald," the Internal Revenue Egrutes is currently reviewing the tax-exempt status of the Fund, which was granted to them on 1-20-52. The article pointed put that the Administration might be embarrased into taking some action on the Fund's tex status in order to theart a 1956 Congressional investigation. The article added that Tradury Ender Learetary H. Chayman Rose told the House Subcommittee on Information earlier that the Administration would seek legislation next year to require public inspection of all applications for tax-exempt status.

Fulton Levis, Ir., on his broadcast 2/28/56, stated that the Ford Foundation has said in the past that they had no control over the $15,000,000 grant to the Fund for the Republic and that this grant was made with "no strings attached." He stated he had learned that the Dureau of Internal Revenue Service is currently conducting an investigation into the Fund regarding its tax-exemption status, although to date he knew of no action which has resulted. He continued that on 2/27/56, he came into possession of a capy of the minutes of a meeting of the Ford Foundation, which was held 2/23-26/50, and was concerned with the grant to the Fund for the Republic. Lewis stated that these minutes reflect that if the Fund loses its tax-exempt status, then the Fund must return to the Ford Foundation the balance of any money granted by the Foundation. Lewis added that if the Luncau of Internal Revenue Service finds that the Fund is not tax-exempt then the money will have to be returned.

Aulton Lewis, Ir., in his broadcast on 3/15/58, stated that several influential Benators are preparing speeches to be delivered on the flaor of the Senate asking the Internal Revenue Service to take away the tax-exempt status of the Sund as a charitable organization. He said that the Internal Revenue Service stanted five months ago to look into the Fund. He referred to the Fund as a "political propaganca slush fund," and stated that it should not enjoy a tax-exempt status. (94-4-2109-

The July CJ, 1856, issue of the "Machington Post and Times Defald" newspaper reported that Constantor John C. He called on the Irocoury Department to restudy the tax-cacapt status of the Fund. (180-201607-1)

Regarding the above, the "Rochington Fost and Times Regard" on 0/7/65 reported that Frank K. Kelly, Vice President of the Jund, in a letter 7/27/63 to the Entted France took tooks with the above charge made by Sanator Stennis. Kelly sold "the Fund has never - and let me repeat, never - declared that the familian never - and let me repeat, never - declared that the familian Farty to another political party." It is noted that both Kelly and Canator Stennis are referring to the Fund's annual report 5/31/55 in which Eutohina had said that the cold war had through the question of individual freedom "into unusual disorder. A political party in this country has been identified with the 'enemy." Eutohina did not apacifically identify the party in question as the Communist Farty; however, various writers and communisted explained that he neunt the Communist Farty, (103-20107-1)

Karl Baarslag, Consultant, House Committee on Un-American Activities, advised the Durgau on February 14, 1957, that scheduled hearings regarding the Fund for the Republic will not be held during Karch but will be held around the middle of April, 1957. Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his syndicated column of 6/11/57 etated that tax-exempt foundations which serve as moneybags for numerous left-wing projects are in for painful funigation by the most powerful committee in Congress, the Neuse Rays and Means Committee. He said the target will be the "educational" rackets, which plously proglaim the purpose of altruistic enlightenment of the public on so-called constitutional rights, but operate assentially as anti-anti-communist propaganda organizations.

The Committee's approach, Lewis said, is from the taxation angle, and it already has decided to require opening up, for public inspection, of the "statements of purpose and objective" which foundations must file with the Treasury to get tax-exemption in the first place. They are now confidential. This would let the public knew what the foundations claim to be doing and whether a foundation is adhering to its professed aims. The next step will be to publicize "informational returns" filed by foundations, which will inform the public as to what tax-free dollars are being opent for.

Lowin stated, a few opineme liberale in the puspect fringe challenge the Committee, notably the Fund for the Republic. Rebert Eutchins, the Fund's provident, contends that the public has no direct or implied interest in the operations of the Fund. The legitimacy of its intentions must be taken the face value. This contention, Lewis states, is challen, even fatures. If projects are worthy, there will be no substantial public criticism. If they are not, the public is entitled to know it. (26-6-2163)

on July 10, 1987, Ur. David G. Teeple, a research consultant in Rachington, D. C., advised he had written a letter to the FM asking for a grant-in-aid for research and pullication of a book entitled "The Planned Attack on the federal Direct of Investigation." He painted out to the Fund that it was his intention to deconstrate through documentary materials that there has been an organized compaign deliberately designed to undermine the confidence of the Azerteen people in the FDI. Recole received a short reply signed by David F. Freenan, vice president of the FFR, eduteing that the fund could not support his project; that they had recently reorganized their activities including followships and grants-in-aid programs. Ideple said this reply indicated that the FF: was not interested in any views except trose which agreed with the Fund's policies which Teeple characterized as left-wing liberal. (34-44177-12)

The "Gaskington Fast and Times Gerald" of Coptember 20, 1937, carried an article on page A-18 captioned "Two Officers Resign Fund for Republic Pasts" which reflected that David P. Freezan and Adam Karmolineky, both officers of the FFL, had resigned their positions on Reptember 19, 1957, as a result of a polic, disagreement with FFL President Robert M. Mutchine.

The article stated it we known "that the Fund has redically changed its approach to American civil liberties. In the past, the fund has subsidized and encouraged civil liberties projects which already existed. Automiss...has now decided that the $2.5 million remaining in the Funds account should be decoted to an over-all study of 'basic issues' with the Fund originating the projects to be studied." Cn C/0/57, Stabley Erroy, former Assistant Director, cduised that Don Appel of the House Committee on Un-American Activities has been assigned to look into the FID. According to Appel, several top people in the investigative field of the Internal Levenue Service are of the opinion that the tax error-tion privileges should be taken away from the Fund and their report to the Commissioner of Internal Levenue will so recommend.

Ir. Tracy further advised he learned there is speculation that the FFI is trying to organize the big projects which will last a long time and into which the FFI wight contribute their money prior to any ruling by Internal Levenue Carvica concerning their tax exemption. According to Tracy these projects night be a study of the free enterprice system in the U. U. and a study of organized labor (both are "caste issues" projects). Chould these projects fail to be organized prior to an unfavorable ruling on their tax status, the FFR may file suit to have an unfavorable decision overruled. (100-391697-471)

Ch U-2-57, former Assistant Director Etanley Tracy advised he had learned that the FM had about eight and one-half utilion dollars left.

He want on to state, "It is noted, Mr. Speaker, that nowhere does Ura. LEADERSHIP

Paul G. Hoffman, Original Head of the Fund

In February, 1953, Hoffman retired as president of the Ford Foundation and was elected chairman of the board of directors of The Fund for the Republic, in which capacity he still serves. He is chairman of the board of the Studebaker-Packard Corporation, Los Angeles, California.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 5; The New York Times, February 26, 1953

Hoffman has been described as "displaying complete naivete in recognition of the Communist menace in the United States" by Alfred M. Kohlberg, chairman of the American Jewish League Against Communism, New York City. Kohlberg said he first knew Hoffman in 1941-42 when Hoffman was raising funds for the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China, United China Relief and other organizations.

From 1943 until 1948, Hoffman was a member of the board of trustees of the American Council, Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR).*

Hoffman contributed $100 annually to the IPR from 1943 through 1947 and was reported to be fairly active in getting others to contribute to IPR.

*See Appendix for citation.

In February, 1949, Hoffman, then administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), urged Congress to eliminate provisions in the Government's loyalty program which required certification that no ECA employees had formerly been members of any organizations cited by the Attorney General.

Hoffman termed such certification "silly" and "unsound," as it barred employment of "very good people." The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, however, declined to relax the loyalty requirements in the operation of the European Recovery Program.

The New York Times, March 2, 1949

Clifford P. Case, First President of the Fund

In May, 1953, Case, then a Congressman from New Jersey, was elected president and a director of The Fund for the Republic. He relinquished his congressional seat and took office in August, 1953. In April, 1954, Case resigned as president when he announced his candidacy for United States Senator.

Robert M. Hutchins, Current President of the Fund

In June, 1954, Hutchins succeeded Case as president of The Fund for the Republic. Hutchins had served as president and as chancellor of the University of Chicago until 1951 when he joined the Ford Foundation as an associate director. He resigned the latter post on becoming president of the Fund. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Fund.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 10; The New York Times, May 25, 1954

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in a radio broadcast on August 29, 1955, asserted that since Hutchins has primary responsibility for and practical control of allocation of the Fund's money, his views and policies are necessarily reflected in this distribution.

In April, 1949, Hutchins testified before the Illinois Seditious.

Activities Investigation Commission, then investigating alleged Communist activities at the University of Chicago. He testified that he knew nothing about the Communist Party except what he had read; that he was not satisfied that the National Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions* was a Communist front organization even though it had been cited as such by the House Committee on Un-American Activities; that he did not consider the Communist Party in the United States to constitute a clear and present danger to the internal security of the country; and that he did not favor the enactment of legislation which would illegalize the Party.

Hutchins was questioned about Oscar Lange, former professor of economics at the University of Chicago. Lange had come to the United States in the 1930's, become a naturalized citizen but, following World War II, renounced his American citizenship to resume Polish citizenship, later serving as Poland's representative to the United Nations. Hutchins testified that Lange was officially listed as on leave of absence from the University; that he was not acquainted with Lange's present views but if Lange's views were what they were when he went on his leave of absence, he would be welcomed back.

Illinois Seditious Activities Investigation Commission. Report of Proceedings. Investigation of University of Chicago and Roosevelt College. 1949

In commenting on the Mundt-Nixon bill, some sections of which were later incorporated into the Internal Security Act of 1950, Hutchins, in April, 1950, characterized it as "foolish, stupid, and dangerous" and expressed the hope that Congress would defeat the measure.

June 4, 1951, upholding the constitutionality of the Smith Act, * Hutchins was quoted as saying that the majority decision "indicates that we are at last up against a crisis in this country." He said that "it may now become more difficult for us to take some of the positions we have in the past," adding that "We may even have to decide whether we must violate the law in order to remain in conformity with our convictions."

In July, 1952, Hutchins expressed opposition to the universal military training program in the United States, claiming that no other nation would believe that this country had to have such training to protect it from attack; therefore, the nation must want such military training in order to attack somebody else.

Pamphlet distributed by National Council Against Conscription.

*Title 18, U.S. Code, Section 2385 (1948 Edition), popularly known as the Smith Act, makes it unlawful for anyone to knowingly teach and advocate the duty and necessity of overthrowing and destroying the Government of the United States by force and violence. The Act was passed by Congress in 1940. Eighty-eight Communist leaders have been tried and convicted under this Act since 1949; 37 have been indicted and are awaiting trial.

An east coast Communist newspaper.

In December, 1952, he denounced the activities of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, protesting the "spread of censorship." In June, 1953, he branded the California State Senate Investigating Committee on Education as "subversive and un-American" and urged its repudiation, stating that "never before... has an official agency explicitly attacked freedom of thought and freedom of speech" as the Committee had done.

Daily People's World, December 15, 1952; The Washington Post, June 12, 1953

In December, 1953, Hutchins delivered a lecture in Beverly Hills, California, in which he characterized congressional committees investigating Communists and Fascists as being run by a bunch of "characters"; declared that he did not believe in any kind of loyalty oath for school teachers or professors and regarded such measures as "nothing more than threats and intimidation against one's character"; denounced Cardinal Spellman's speech in Europe a month earlier in which the churchman said that no one in America was being hurt by congressional investigations; advocated the admission of Communist China to the United Nations; and contended that Attorney General Brownell's views on wire-tapping and proposed changes in the Fifth Amendment were in direct violation of the Constitution.

In this lecture, Hutchins said: "Today we are cursed by a tremendous glorification of the FBI. The only people we will believe are confessed spies and traitors...."

As for outlawing the Communist Party, Hutchins contended that he would take the opposite course and remove all limitations upon Communists. "I would catch and punish criminals," he said. "I would not condemn a man because he belonged to an organization. The Communist Party may be in the hands of the Kremlin but it does not follow that everyone in the Communist Party is a part of a conspiracy."

"I don't believe that spying accelerated by thirty days the development of the atomic bomb in Russia," he said. "All the theoretical material on the release of atomic energy was published in the 'Encyclopaedia Britannica' in 1936."

He stated further in this speech: "I do not feel that the Communist party is as dangerous as professed. Some people take it for granted that just because a person is a member of the Communist party, he is dangerous. This is not true."

"For example, in the state of Washington, most of the professors at the state university, when under investigation, proved to be some of the weakest and most sheepish men I have ever heard of."

Daily People's World, December 9, 1953

A press release indicated that a bound volume of scrolls would be presented to Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winner, at a testimonial dinner to be held in his honor on February 12, 1955, under auspices of the Chicago Sobell Committee. The scrolls praised Dr. Urey for his contributions as a citizen, and for his protests in the Rosenberg and Sobell cases. Hutchins was listed among the signers of the scrolls.

The Chicago Sobell Committee is an offshoot of the National Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case, which was formed in January, 1952, to raise funds for the defense of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were convicted, together with Morton Sobell, in March, 1951, of conspiracy to commit espionage. The Rosenbergs were executed; Sobell is now serving a thirty-year prison sentence.

In a speech in April, 1955, Hutchins declared that he had recently attended a dinner of senior faculty members of the University of Birmingham in England. "I sat across the table from a professor who was a member of the executive committee of the Communist Party of Great Britain," he said. "The British appear to be getting value out of a scholar whom none of the great American universities could appoint."

Daily Worker, April 4, 1955

On September 11, 1955, Seaborn P. Collins, National Commander of The American Legion, called on all members to "have no truck" with activities sponsored by The Fund for the Republic because it appears that the Fund is "threatening and may succeed in crippling the national security." Collins accused the Fund of "constant, loaded criticism of congressional and Administration efforts to resist Communist infiltration."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, September 12, 1955

On September 15, 1955, the board of directors of the Fund, which included Hutchins, issued a reply to Collins' criticism. The statement said, among other things, that from "the beginning the Board has held that the major factor affecting civil liberties today is the menace of communism and communist influence in this country." The sentiment expressed in this portion of the statement, however, is in marked variance with the public statements made by Hutchins in which he has minimized the threat of Communism in the United States.

Press Release of The Fund for the Republic, September 15, 1955

In an address on October 7, 1955, Hutchins stated that he could only conclude that those who fear impartial investigation of the loyalty-security programs are afraid of the truth. He said: "The positions they have taken and the reputations they have built are interwoven with those programs.

Such people do not want the system looked into, because they fear it may be found defective, and their attitudes and reputations may appear defective, too."

The Evening Star (Washington, D. C.), October 8, 1955

A number of statements made by Hutchins on national issues have been published and distributed by Communist front organizations. Some examples of this have been the distribution in May, 1950, by the Philadelphia Committee to Defeat the Mundt Bill* of his statement against the Mundt-Nixon bill; and the playing at a meeting of a Communist front group in 1954 of a tape recording of one of the speeches made by Hutchins criticizing the Dilworth Law, which required loyalty oaths from California teachers.

Hallock Hoffman, Assistant to the President

Hoffman expressed himself as opposing loyalty oath propositions on the ballot in California in August, 1953. In an advertisement, which was in the nature of an open letter to State Senator Nelson S. Dilworth, Hoffman complained because his name was not included among those cited as opposed to loyalty oaths. "Such laws are the instruments of dictatorship," he said, and always are "used to enforce conformity and broadcast fear." Hoffman protested because the Dilworth Committee on Education had not listed the many thousands of citizens who opposed the "non-disloyalty oaths." Daily People's World, August 4, 1953

A press release reflected that Hoffman was one of the signers of a bound volume of scrolls which was to be presented to Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winner, at a testimonial dinner to be held in his honor on February 12, 1955, under auspices of the Chicago Sobell Committee. The scrolls praised Dr. Urey for his contributions as a citizen, and his protests in the Rosenberg and Sobell case.

Wilbur H. Ferry, Vice-President*

Ferry was appointed chief of press relations for the CIO Political Action Committee in June, 1944. According to a 1944 report of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, immediately prior to the setting up of the CIO Political Action Committee, the leaders of the Communist Party were agitating for the establishment of just such an agency as was created by the CIO executive board in July, 1943. The report said that the CIO executive board which established the Political Action Committee was composed of 49 members, among whom there were at least 18 whose records indicated that they followed the "line" of the Communist Party with undeviating loyalty; and a majority of the international unions affiliated with the CIO had an entrenched Communist leadership.

During 1944-1945, Ferry was reported to be friendly with the national officers of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee (JAFRC).*

In early 1945, he was also reported to be a member of a group of publicity men who assisted JAFRC officials in a national fund-raising campaign.

Amos Landman, now engaged in part-time public relations work for the Fund, declined in 1954 to answer questions before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security concerning his alleged former membership in the Communist Party. Ferry was quoted early in October, 1955, as saying that * See Appendix for citation. Amos Landman, Staff Member

The Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security on June 30, 1955, stated that Amos Landman had subscribed to an affidavit sworn to before a State Department consular officer on September 15, 1953, which reads as follows: "I became a member of the Communist Party in 1937 or 1938. I am not sure. It will be recalled that this was the time of the great Depression, a time when many of us were looking desperately for solutions to the problems

The Boston Globe for January 15, 1941, reported that a group of Harvard undergraduates was organizing a large delegation to join the American Youth Congress in a "Peace Pilgrimage" to Washington, D. C., on February 7-9, 1941. Joseph P. Lyford was listed among those prominent in the group.

The Harvard Progressive for April, 1941, listed Lyford as its editor. It was the official publication of the Harvard Student Union, a chapter of the American Student Union. **

Adam Yarmolinsky, Staff Member

Yarmolinsky's father, Avrahm, was a member of the board of directors of the American Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union in 1936.

The same agency reported that Babette Deutsch had participated in the North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy* and that she and Yarmolinsky's father had signed petitions sponsored by the John Reed Club.*

In December, 1944, Yarmolinsky, in applying for a position with the Federal Government, made the statement that he had resigned from the Harvard Student Union* in 1940 when he discovered it was Communist-dominated and that he attended the American Youth Congress* in June or July, 1941, as a hostile observer.

Davis was president of the Authors' League of America (ALA) in 1939-1941. A governmental agency conducting personnel and security-type investigations has reported that the ALA was Communist-infiltrated and that some of its members were known to belong to the Communist Party.

In his book, But We Were Born Free, published in 1953, Davis criticized congressional investigating committees.

The letter contained signatures of individuals sponsoring the letter. Among the signatures appeared the name of Frank Loescher.

In July, 1948, Loescher was among the members of the coordinating committee of the organization known as the Campaign to Resist Military Segregation. Erwin N. Griswold, Member of Board of Directors*

In April, 1948, 45 law school teachers appealed to the House Committee on Un-American Activities to grant a fair trial to Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards, whom the committee had accused of being a "weak link" in the Nation's atomic security. These teachers made known their request in a letter addressed to the chairman of the committee which was made public by the American Civil Liberties Union. Griswold was one of the signers of this letter.

New York Herald Tribune, April 19, 1948

The Boston Herald for March 5, 1951, contained an article indicating that Harvard University had been urged by Samuel P. Sears, president of the Massachusetts Bar Association, to stop "encouraging and playing host to the Communist Party." According to the article, Sears directed a letter to Griswold, dean of the Harvard Law School, protesting the University's attitude of tolerance toward enemies of the Nation and demanded the dissolution *Source: Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 5.

of the Harvard Lawyers Guild, an affiliate of the National Lawyers Guild.*

On March 6, 1951, the Boston Herald carried an article in which Griswold answered Sears' letter. Griswold said that the Harvard Law School would take no action toward suppressing the Harvard Lawyers' Guild. Griswold concluded by saying he felt it would be improper to interfere with the legitimate freedom of Harvard students to take any action towards suppressing the activities of the Harvard Lawyers' Guild.

In his column on July 14, 1955, George E. Sokolsky stated that it had been suggested that Griswold be appointed as chairman of a committee to study the Government's security system. According to Sokolsky, Griswold's book on the Fifth Amendment established him as more concerned with the private economics and fears of those who erred than with the security of his country. Sokolsky stated, "It would be as incorrect to appoint such a man as Dean Griswold to head a fact-finding commission because of his prejudice as it would be to appoint, let us say, Gerald L. K. Smith on the other side of the fence. What is required of such a commission is objectivity, not prejudgment often based on bias."

New York Journal-American, July 14, 1955

*See Appendix for citation.

In his book, The Fifth Amendment Today, Griswold was extremely critical of congressional committees investigating Communists.

Erwin N. Griswold, The Fifth Amendment Today. (Cambridge: Harvard University Press, 1955)

The New York Times on August 25, 1955, reported that Griswold and Tracy E. Griffin, of Seattle, Washington, a member of a special committee of the American Bar Association to study Communist tactics, strategy and objectives, debated on the subject of "Lawyers and the Fifth Amendment."

Griffin asserted that Griswold's book, The Fifth Amendment Today, "is now relied upon by the Fifth Amendment Communists, fellow travelers, pseudoliberals and international one-worlders as though it constituted a gold-leaf edition of the Communist Manifesto."

George Sokolsky's column of August 30, 1955, was a criticism of the publications being distributed by the Fund. Sokolsky stated that the Fund had distributed 35,000 copies of The Fifth Amendment Today. According to Sokolsky, this book and others distributed by the Fund were "anti-FBI, anti-Congressional committees investigating subversives."

New York Journal-American, August 30, 1955 A press release issued April 29, 1948, by the Committee of One Thousand, * New York City, indicated that a group of 140 noted educators, clergymen, artists, professional and business people condemned the House Committee on Un-American Activities for its treatment of Dr. Edward U. Condon and called for the committee's abolition because it "directly menaces freedom of conscience and expression." Among the names of individuals who deplored the committee's activities was Griswold's.

In September, 1948, the wife of a Seattle, Washington, attorney advised that during a previous exchange of correspondence with Griswold he indicated he was sympathetic with Alger Hiss.

During the first Alger Hiss perjury trial in 1949 in New York City, Griswold conferred with a group of people in the corridor of the courthouse, which included Mr. and Mrs. Alger Hiss.

In June, 1951, Griswold characterized a loyalty investigation of an applicant for a Government position as "ridiculous, completely unnecessary, and a tremendous waste of manpower."

In January, 1948, O'Brian made an address before the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, in which he discussed loyalty tests as a threat to the American constitutional theory of the rights of the individual.

Following a four-day trip to Yugoslavia, Sherwood wrote a brief article on his experiences which appeared in the Yugoslav Review for May-June, 1955. He wrote: "If I had previously harbored any notions that Yugoslavia might be a drearily regimented, totalitarian, authoritarian police state, I discarded such notions when I observed the unquenchable capacity of the Yugoslavia people, including government officials, for cracking jokes."

In 1941, Sherwood contributed to a fund being raised by the New York Conference for Inalienable Rights* for the legal defense of Clifford T. McAyoy, its vice-president.

PART II

IMATER HIP IN THE FUND (Contember 10, 1955, to January 1, 2956)

OFFICERS

Robert H. Mitchina, President

Butchine at a news conference on 11-7-55 elated that "The Communist Forty is a conger to the United States," but/bould still give a Communist a job. He added, "I wouldn't hesitate to hire a Communist for a job, he was well qualified to do, provided I was in a position to see that he did it." He said that he knew of no such employee presently on the Fund's payroll.

During this news conference Nutchino defended the Fund's hiring of Amos Landman as a part-time publicity man last July even though Landman had pleaded the Fifth Amendment when questioned by the Landte Internal Lacurity Lubecomittee about Communist Farty (CP) membership. According to Nutching, Landman left the Fund on November 1, 1955. When asked by reporters if it were not an affrent to the American people to hire Landman, Nutchins replied: "Not at all. The Fifth Amendment is a part of the Bill of Rights." Nutchins added further that Landman had left the GP in 1953. (100-391697-204; 11-0-55 "Tachington News"; 11-0-55 "Tachington Fost and Times Merald")

On II-23-55 Sutching appeared on the TY program,

"Test the Freen." At the outset, he pas reminded of the recent oriticisms of the Fund by the American Legion, to which Sutching stated he bolloved that Communion was a perious manage to civil liberties in the United States. He added that the Fund was dedicated to justice and freeden and claimed that the Fund wanted to make the Bill of Rights a living document and denied charges that it was either soft on Communion or trying to undermine occurity programs.

There followed a rather extensive discussion of whether nutchind would hive a known Communist. Nutchins did not commit himself on this subject. He was evasive and refused to give a straight answer. He alaimed that each case must rest on its individual merits; that is, whether the applicant had abilities desired by the Fund, the degree of culpibility and association as connected with membership in the CP. (100-201007-205; 100-201007-A; 11-21-25 itsue of "Fashington Ctar," "Washington Fost and Times Herald," and "Washington News.")

Considerable critical comments were subsequently made by various columnists and commentators concerning Rutchins appearance on "Heet the Press," set forth as follows:

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his broadcast of 11-21-55 said that Mutchins dodged, evaded, and double talked, and managed to insult the intelligence of the reporters on the panel and the audience. Lewis stated that Mutchins in a crafty twist of words tried to make his audience believe that several recent developments in the Government were the result of projects of the Fund and that Mutchins never would come out with a direct answer to the question whether he would refuse to hire a Communist. Lewis added that Mutchins performance on the program was the worst perpetrated on the public. (94-4-2169-242)

The 11-22-55 issue of the "New York Daily News" contained an editorial which stated, in commenting on Hutchins' refusal to state whether he would hire a Communit, that the main question about a prospective employee of an outfit which, like the Fund, claims to fight Communism, is: "Can you trust him to do the job he will be told to do? Obviously, you can't trust a Communist to fight Communism. Haybe the head-in-the-clouds thinking exhibited by Dr. Hutchine on this point helps to explain why the good doctor gets the Fund for the Republic onto such hot spots." (100-391697-A)

An editorial appearing in the 11-23-55 "New York Journal American" stated that Hutchins "played another of his fuzzy anti-anti-Communist records ... he came up with some remarkable views on Communists and Communism, among which was this collector's item: 'I' don't know whether Earl Browder is a Communist or not. I assume that he is.' "The editorial then commented on Browder's past record as a Communist and added: "Hutching isn't yet convinced that Browder is a Communist although his name has been a Red hallmark for 35 years." The editorial concluded with, "This is the man now in charge of dispensing the Fund's tax-free millions to, among others, a coterie of left-wingers, Fifth Amendment pleaders, and unabashed pro-Communists." (100-391697-A)

George Cokolsky in his column 11-28-55 stated that he has reached the following conclusions concerning Hutchins: "(1) That Hutchins is vitally interested in civil liberties but has not thought out the subject philosophically; (2) On the subject of Communism Hutchins displays a lack of knowledge which would indicate that he has not taken the time to do his homework." (100-391697-A; Washington Post and Times Herald," 11-28-55)

The "American Legion Lagarine," October, 1955, tobue contains an editorial entitled "Fhat's Frong with America," which quotes portions of a speech made by Mutchine before a gathering of newspaper editors in Tackington, it. C., a few weeks earlier, fertinent portions of this speech are set forth as follows:

If you have filled the air with warnings of the sinister figures on the Left, but have printed almost nothing about the fat cats on the Light. You have allowed things to get to such a pass that some governmental departments now have guidance clinics in which the employee is taught how not to look like a security risk. Look at the Passport Livision, interfering with the travel of Americans on their lawful occasions; at the attorney Coneral's list, ruining the libes of thomsands on the basis of heresay; at the Fost Office Lepartment, saving us from Pravia and Aristophanes; at the State Lepartment, saving us from Pravia and Aristophanes; at the State Lepartment, adding the name of Coret to those of Lauses and Mervice and countless others. Doe the blacklist spreading in industry, merging with proposals that American Communists should be starved to death. Listen to the wire tapping, to the cry of the Fifth Amendment Communist, to the kept witnesses reaming the Land...

The editorial states that in view of the foregoing remarks by Eutchins, it is frightinging to realize that a min like Eutchins is handed 15,000,000 to spend pretty much as he sees fit. It states further that one can get some idea of how much brainwashing Eutchins can accomplish at the that money apent in advertising by spreading it emong like-minded "emperts" in the academic-propaganda field. (100-501507-100)

The Founder 27, 1965, issue of "The Cuneau Star" reported that the Lirectors of the Ford Foundation voted at a meeting earlier in the week that they have "complete confidence in Dr. Lutchina" to carry out the addigments of the Fund. (100-801617-4)

The 11-12-55 focus of the "Lattonal Levier" contains an editorial by Filliam F. Luckley, Jr., which states in part that some day "Ur. Lutching will roflect, without price, on his stewardship of the Fund for the Lepublic, which day by day, in every way, grows more insolent, more and more hyperical, more and more irresponsible."

The Eureau received information from a source of unknown reliability on 11-28-25 that Hutchino contract with the Fund expires on 12-1-25 and will not be renowed. No further information has been received in this matter. (100-3)137-302)

Fulton Lowis, Jr., in his broadcast on 10-17-55 stated that Ferry got his "left-wing political schooling" in his role as Public Colorions Director of the CIO Political Action Committee in the days when Sydney Hillman, Lee Presents, John Abt, and William Conington were running it. (94-4-2180-217)

It has been reliably reported that at a reciting on 10-25-55 the Council for Personal Fracton, New York City, approved a memorandum precented by Lan Coleman, New York CP functionary, who also directed the neeting; the memorandum advocates a necessity for breadening the fight against the approad of "McGarthytam" in the United States as appressed by the curtailing of the liberties of all Americans. The memorandum also charged that the rights of Americans were being increasingly restricted by the action of five different governmental accomplications, the trade unions, and the CP members. The memorandum also charged the FDI with the topping of thousands of telephones and states that thousands of individuals are regularly losing jobs by the "Distration of the FDI to manufacturing plants all over the opinity" and through accordance of testimons from "faceloss accusers" in loyalty cases.

According to the informant, Coleman will refer the penerandum to an individual by the name of Farry, an executive of the Fund for the Lepublic, with the hope that the Fund will start a project along the came lines and on the points noted. Ferry is believed to be Wilbur H. Ferry, Vice Provident of the Fund. It is noted that the "Council for Personal Freedom" was previously named the Council for Protection of Fersonal Liberties and was founded in New York City on 19-5-55 as an independent C. organization.

On 11-14-55 the Larguette Iniversity Law Cohool, Hilwaukee, Vicconsin, opensored three addresses on "The Problem of the Fifth Americant in Modern Times," which was held in the Drooks Memorial Union of Marguette University, Gricoold was one of the epockers and stated at the outset that the greatest harn to the Enited States was possible in the field of the Fifth Amendment tince it involved the satting of wan against wan and created suspicion among good, honest Americans. He pointed out, however, that he did not like Communists or Communion which he regarded as the greatest single threat to America and civil liberties. Communion would destroy the civil liberties of the Enited States, Griswold seld, and added that he did not even like people who were formarly Communists since he had a definite reservation about their good judgement.

driswold stated that certain persons have claimed that the use of the privilege of the Fifth Amendment is wrong because the public has a right to information. There is no such right as far as the public is concerned,, he claimed. Orievold pointed out that the way Lenate investigating committees in this country have handled certain hearings, they have caused the witnessed to claim the privilege of the Fifth Amendment although in some cases it may have been wrongfully claimed. Prople, he baid, ought to try to understand why a person may claim the Fifth Amendment and not jump to the conclusion that he is either a criminal or a liar. The witness may become frightened or just plain stubborn, thus causing him to refuse to testify, Orievold said.

Griscold condemned the rule that in a tenate investigation if a person furnishes some information on a particular subject, he has valved the privilege and must furnish all he knows. This rule, he claimed, has compelled withouses to immediately alain the privilege and furnish no information at all for fear of waiving the privilege. (100-291097-304)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his broadcast on 11-24-55 was critical in his remarks regarding O'Brian, who he said was described by Eutchins as the "leading attorney in the Enited States." Lewis mentioned that O'Brian was the author of a recently published book entitled "Kational Cocurity and Individual Fraedon." Lewis read accerpts from this book and noted that O'Brian claimed that our attisens were becoming hysterical from a fear of Eussia; that there is a "distrust" growing out of the investigations by the FDI and other intelligence agencies. Lewis noted that this is one of the books which is recommended as reading matter by the Freedom Agenda program sponsored by the Fund. (94-4-2100-244)

The October 0, 1955, issue of the "Los Angeles Times" contains on article priticising the Fund for employing Lendman (previously described) as a staff member. PART II

LEADERSHIP IN THE FUED (January 1, 1956, to March 31, 1956)

OFFICERS

Robert M. Mutchins, President

According to the January 10, 1956, issue of the "Washington Fast and Times Nevald" newspaper, Nutchins was re-elected President of the Fund for the Republic. The article stated that a spokesman of the Fund said that the election occurred on November 17, 1955, at a meeting which dealt with "matters of routine administration" and, therefore, no public announcement was made of the re-election at that time. (100-891637-A) negarding Hutchins' re-election, Fulton Lewis, Jr., commented on his broadcast January 10, 1956, that the Fund directors had decided to keep his re-election secret until their press announcement on January 8, 1956, because he had been under fire for his management of the Fund, and the directors did not want to have to answer for him. (94-4-2189-275)

The December, 1955, issue of "The Cross and the Flag," contained an editorial by Gerald L. X. Smith, publisher, entitled "Autohine the Enigma." The editorial states "One of the most dangerous men on the face of the earth is Dr. Robert M. Lutchins. He has been a pinko, a left-winger and an appeaser for 25 years to my personal knowledge. It is a mystery to me how this irresponsible, self-styled intellectual was ever allowed to put his hands on the many millions of dallars that were left by the late Henry Ford." "The Cross and the Flag" is the official organ of the Christian Rationalists Grusade, a national political committee, located at Glendale, California. (60-43318)

Hutchine stated on January 31, 1956, that the directors of the Fund are entitled to a "small outburst of righteous indignation because of hysterical misrepresentations against the Fund." The statement was made in a speech before the American Jewish Congress at the Waldorf Astoria, New York City, at which time he was presented with a plaque "for his defense of traditional American freedoms." Mutchins added that the fund has been accused by a few individuals and groups whose vociferousness exceeds their influence and intelligence, of everything from ignorance to treason. He noted "Can it be that we are afraid to face the facts about how freedom and justice are faring in this country?" ("The Evening Star," Fashington, D. C., 2-1-56; 100-391697-A)

In a speech before the Liberal Party's Committee at Large at Rew York City on February 10, 1956, Rutchins stated that "Some of the methods that we have employed to combat communism may be as much of a threat to civil liberties as communism tiself." He added to this Bill of Right's was set up to guarantee the freedom of the individual and of minorities but that in time of stress such guarantees tend "to fade in the face of the depand for what is called security. " He stated that a study sponsored by the Fund "disclosed a degree of general ignorance of and indifference to the Bill of Rights that must alarm anyone concerned about the preservation of According to Butchins the Fund was not their liberties." set up to fight communism but to defend and advance the principles of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Dill of Rights. He said, "In discharging this obligation, the fund necessarily collides with communism." ("Mashington City New Service," 2-18-56; 100-391897-A)

During the period February 20-24, 1956, the "Hew York Post" carried a series of five biographical articles concerning Autohins which were written by Irwin Ross. The articles were complimentary toward Autohins giving detailed account of his background, his past activities in the field of education, and ended with an account of his activities with the Fund. The article was favorable toward the Fund but did reflect the following criticisms against Autohins and Wilbur H. Ferry, the Fund's Vice President:

Ferry's major failing, however, is his obliviousness to the complexities of the civil liberties field which is even more projound than Hutchins!. He has the slogareering mind of an account executive wedded to an exuberant view that avowed friends of civil liberties, short of declared communists, are true friends - - and even nore than Hutchins, Ferry has an inability to make the necessary and relevant distinctions. (100-368336)

The New York Division on 3-8-56 interviewed one Frank Straus Never during which he advised that in his opinion Autohins was never a Communist Party (CP) member although at times he appeared to lean over backwards to tolerate the Party. In his dealings with Autohins, he was able to manipulate Autohins for the banefit of the Party on most occasions. However, on other occasions he was unsuccessful in getting to him. He never heard of any statement attributed to Autohins in which Autohins admitted to being a Communist. Never is a former CP member who specialized in educational work for the CP; was former Director of the Chicago Norkers School, (succeeded by the Abraham Lincoln School, cited by the HCVA) 1938-42; was head of the American Student Union (cited by the HCVA) and the Communist Club while at the University of Chicago 1936-37. (100-368336-13)

Wilbur H. Ferry, Vice President

According to the January 8, 1956, issue of the "New York Post" newspaper, Ferry was re-elected Vice President of the Fund on Movember 17, 1955, (100-391697-A)

The Boston Division by Letter dated 1-31-56 stated that the New Hampshire Attorney General's office is in possession of a Photostat of a letter written by Ferry to President John Dickey, Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Rampshire, dated 12-14-53 in which he criticized the New Hampshire state investigation into subversive activities being conducted by Attorney General Louis Nyman and his possible questioning of professors of Dartmouth, and offering his assistance in any way possible to combat this investigation. Ferry stated he was putting himself forth as an indignant alumnus, not as a public relations counsel, and referred to "Nyman's investigation" as a fishing tripof a ranker stripe than most, stating it should be resteted, derided, and put in its proper contemptible light. (100-420181-10)

Boston advised that a subpoend has been issued by the New Hampshire Attorney General's office for Kerry's oppearance at the above-mentioned hearing and it will be served upon him if and when he is located in the State. (100-420181-10)

David F. Freeman, Secretary-Treasurer

According to the January 8, 1956, issue of the Mem York Post" newspaper, Freeman was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Fund at a Board of Directors meeting held on November 17, 1955, (100-991697-A)

ROARD OF DIRECTORS

Roder D. Lankan, repher of the Board

On 2/7/50, the fund announced that Logar D. Laphan, former mayor of Can Francisco, was named as a director of the Fund. ("The Evening Star," 2/0/50; 100-301697-A).

Bufiles indicated that Laphan was the subject of an European Recovery Program investigation in 1948, which failed to reflect any pertinent information. In addition, Lufiles indicate that in 1951 an informant furnished original documents of the Institute of Facific Relations (IFR). Documents reflected that in January, 1989, Laphan was a number of the American Council of the IFR; that he was a speaker before the Pacific Northwest Division of the IFR in 1959 at Seattle, Vachington. The IFR has been cited by the California Committee on un-American Activities.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his broadcast of 2/7/50, stated that Laphan was a life-long republican of extreme liberal persuasion and the forcer director of Foreign Aid in China under Dean Acheson, who said upon his return from China that the communists were doing fine in Lanking and Changhai and that the Americans and Britains would be cole to do business with them. (100-501657-549)

J. Howard Marchall, rember of the Poord

The Fund announced on 2/7/50, that J. Howard Karshall, Texas oil executive, was named as director of the Fund, ("The Evening Star," 2/8/50; 100-391697-A) inquiry conducted by the Eureau in 1950 failed to reveal any additional information reflecting adversely upon Varshall's loyalty. (121-26179; 100-391607-542)

Odenr Fannerstein. II. nember of the Board

The Fund announced on C/7/50, that Occar Echmeratein, II, playerite-producer, was named as a director of the Fund, ("The Evening Star," 2/3/56; 102-501607-A)

In Totober, 1951, a security investigation was conducted by the Surecu concerning Camparatein based on his reported connections with numerous Companiest Party front organizations. The investigation reflected that during the 1940's he had been a sponsor of or had participated in activities of eight organizations cited by the Attorney Congral, one organization cited by the Nouse Committee on up-American Activities (ECVA), and nine organizations cited by the California Committee on un-American Activities. In addition to these activities, Lammeratein had employed numerous Communist Farty members or sympathizers in his shows. He has always fought discrimination and consorahip. (100-391607-395)

Elmo Rover, rember of the Board

Trying Ferman, Cashington representative of the American Civil Liberties Union, advised the Lureau on 1/11/56, that Haper has no concept of his responsibility as a member of the board of directors of a foundation such as the Fund. Roper feels that all of their problems are public relations problems and that their projects are satisfactory. La now agrees that the Fund has been very inept in the selection of came of its materials and that the big problem is to get rid of Eutchins.

Forman further advised that Morris Ernst, a New York City attorney, is taking quite an active interest in the Fund and apparently wants to get on the board of directors. Ernst wrote a letter to Faul Moffman, chairman of the Board, the previous week wherein he said that the board could not capitulate at this time. Ferman also stated that the Fund has been making a series of grants to Catholic institutions recently and is seeking to underwrite a large project to be handled by Fordhem University dealing with the Fifth Amendment. (100-301697-303)

Kalter Millia. Consultant

Donald Rogers, financial and business editor of the "New York Ferald Tribune," stated during a convergation with a Eureau Agent on 12/14/55, that the "Eribune" had "deviated" for a period under the influence of a group of editors, specifically falter Millis, "who came close to following the Communist Party line," To particularly stressed the role of Millis as having influenced the paper's policy and in this regard mentioned the strong support given the American subjects by the "Tribune" as an indication of the "party line" followed.

Rogers claimed that he and Brownie Reid, publisher of the paper, planned and executed a coup, which was responsible for removing Millis and others from their positions and the former policy was restored. He added, that Millis is now in an influential capacity with the Fund for the Mepublia, which is attacking the American judicial system and the FBL's work in the security field. He expressed strongly the opinion that the fund is falsely proclaiming a civil rights advacably for the purpose of undermining true civil rights so capably guarded by the present judicial system and the FBL. (100-401610-1)

Michael Karrington, Besearch Agsistant

The 11/22/55, tasue of "The Latly Cardinal," the University of Visconsin student necessary, at Madican, Visconsin, stated that Wishael Carrington, national chairman of the Young Socialist League, was a research constant for the Fund for the Lepublic, (100-301697-394)

Osefiles indicate that Carrington is the subject of a pending security investigation by the Cureau and is currently on the Security Index. Investigation reflects that he has participated in socialist activities since at locat 1953. Collable information has connected him with the activities of the Socialist Touth League (cited by the Attorney Ceneral); the Independent Socialist League (cited by the Attorney Ceneral); the Young Feoples Socialist League and the Toung Socialist League. During 1954-1955 he worked for the Workers Defense League, New York City (cited by the ECJA).

The Toung Sactalist League was founded in February, 1954, as a result of a merger of the Sactalist Touth League and the Young Proples Socialist League, which was expelled from the Sacialist Party in August, 1959, because the Coolalist Party objected to the Toung Peoples Socialist League holding meetings with the Sacialist Touth League. (100-411915)

PART II

LEADERSHIP IN THE FUND (April 1, 1956 to June 30, 1956)

OFFICERS

Robert M. Hutchins, President

Hutchins, speaking at "Certificate Award Ceremonies" at the University of Chicago, where he was once Chancellor, on June 11, 1956, defined the controversial Fund for the Republic as an "anti-absurdity fund." He made a free-swinging attack on "sentimentalists" and "uneducated experts" during which he also jokingly announced that inasmuch as he has been frequently criticized by the American Legion as being soft to communists, he was opening his cappaign to become National Commander of the American Legion. (Washington City New Service, 6-12-56; 100-391697-A)

The March 19, 1956, issue of "The New Leader" carried an article entitled "Six Fallacies of Robert Hutchins" written by Sidney Hook, Chairman of the Department of Philosophy at New York University. The article presents a detailed analysis of the controversial views Hutchins has on communism. The article states that to charge Hutchins with sympathy for communism or communists is absurd. All it (Hutchins' views on communism) indicates, according to the article, is a lack of common sense. But, it is a lack of common sense whose consequences are prejudicial first of all to the individuals engaged by the Fund for the Republic on research projects.

Information was received on January 18, 1954, from an informant who has furnished reliable information in the past that a meeting was held on January 10, 1954, by the Citizens Committee to Preserve America's Freedom (CCPAF) at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, Los Angeles, California. The informant stated a group of individuals who had refused to testify before "various committees that were investigating un-American groups" was introduced on the stage and that this group included Robert Hutching, former Chancellor of the University of Chicago.

Another informant who has furnished reliable information in the past advised on April 5, 1955, that the CCPAF was organized in Los Angeles in January, 1952, for the announced purpose of supporting a number of individuals from the medical and legal professions who had been subposeded to appear before the Louise Committee on Un-American Activities. Since its establishment, the CCPAF, in extending its scope, has worked for the abolition of all Congressional, state and local committees investigating subversive activities and in the latter part of 1954 became very active in opposition to state and federal legislation directed at the communist movement. According to the informant, Frank Vilkinson, Executive Learning of the CCFAF, was the "brains and energy" behind the organization. On Ceptember 17, 1953, an informant who has furnished reliable information in the past adviced that Frank Vilkinson was a Communist Farty member at that time.

Johnson was a Communist Farty member at that time.

Paul G. Foffran, Chairman of the Pourd of Directors

Fulton Lewis, Ir., on his Lay 2, 1956, breadeds stated that the Risenhower Leministration was endeavoring to have Koffman appointed as the Kapublican member on the United Kattons (UI) Lelegation for the meeting of the Ceneral Assembly of the UII which begins this fall. Levis described Koffman as a "long-time bleeding heart, one worlder" and as the "patron caint" of Robert II. Eutchins, had of the notorious Fund for the Republic.

According to Lewis, Noffman has stated that the only difference between him and the extremist, Dr. Nutchins, is that Lutching has the courage of his convictions and dares to say publicly the things he balieves. Loffman does not.

In his Kay 3, 1950, broadcast, Lewis was extremely critical of Noffman and Cutchins. He stated that the Studebaker-Fackard Corporation, which Noffman heads, lost (20,700,000 last year and is losing money this year; that the stockholders are critical and aggrys and that there are increased runors that Noffman is on the way out of the corporation. Lewis caid that Noffman was the head of the Economic Cooperation Administration in 1943-1950 and left it in such shape that it had to be abolished. According to Lewis, the White Louse is pushing Roffman for a place on the United States Relegation to the UN Ceneral Assembly. He inferred that Noffman is analous for this appointment because he will have to resign from the Studebaker-Fackard Corporation or be deposed. Lewis said This is the Fund for the Republic...bidding for a place on the United States Delegation to the UN Ceneral Assembly." (04-4-2100-203,804)

The Key 18, 1950, issue of the "Latly Verker," gost coast communist newspaper, contains an article entitled "Faul Loffman urgos fight on black-listing." The article stated that Loffman in a speech before students of the City Vallege of New York on Lay 15, 1956, appealed to the students to speak out for freedom, to counteract black-listing, installation and fear. Loffman said that the right to debate and the right to stand innocent until proven guilty has been debated by "a new form of Ku Klum Klantem by which a group of Americans having no judicial status can set themselves up to pass judgment on the loyalty of their fellow citigns. (133-391697-A)

Fulton Losis, Jr., on his broadcast Lay 10, 1950, referred to the above statements made by Loffman and pointed out that this was critician of the Losinistration's accurity program and that further, Loffman was being considered for a UN position. (DC-C-0189-315)

An Accoctated Prass criticle dated Kay 10, 1050, of New York entitled "Furd Fights Deca, Doffman Laya" reported that Poffman cold an American Legion Fost on Kay 17, 1050, that the oft-criticized fund for the Republic was conceived as a measure communication. "From the very beginning of its establishment," Doffman said "the officers and directors of the Fund have given thought as to how the Fund could best contribute to our winning out in the struggle against communicat" ("Cashington Ctor," 5-10-55, 103-531697-4)

Eutohina also declaimed at unconsciouable length about the vital necessity of accdemic freedem.

Corroll Coldy, Driercliff Kanor, New York, author of the book "The FDI," and with when the Durenu has maintained very favorable relations, eduted the Eurenu by letter 7/24/56 that Edward Koyer, principal of the local high school, had announced a 15 week "cosential ideas pening" for gifted seniors. The project will consist of victing and study of 15 films produced by Dr. Mortimer Adler for the National Education Television Center, Ann Arbor, Michigan. The films bear such titles as "Existence of God," "Truth," "Good, Evil and Beauty," etc.

Colby advised that the project was started through the efforts of Wilbur Ferry, a member of their local school board and an officer of the FFR. Through Lr. Ferry the high school was granted $13,000 by the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education. Farents of the high school students are concerned with the Fund for the Republic's possible interest in the project (actually the money was furnished by the Ford Foundation).

Bureau's files show that Dr. Mortimer Adler is an advocate of world Government. In 1945 he stressed that the United States and other sovereign nations be abolished and advocated a world Government as an answer to the threat to civilization by the atomic bomb. (62-81409-10, 12)

Adam Yarnolinsky - Secretary

On 6-12-56 Yarmolineky appeared on the TV panel program "City-Side," where he was questioned by local mashington newspapermen. Then asked why the fund has been criticized as procommunist, he said any organization concerned with the Bill of Rights or that tried to protect a minority or unpopular people would also be criticized. He stated that his case studies of the different security cases (about 350 in number) were used by the Bar Association of New York in its study of loyalty-security programs. He stated he felt the nation needed no new loyalty program but that administrative procedures within the present program should take care of both sensitive and nonsensitive jobs. He stated that he felt the United States should protect its confidential informants at hearings, but he was concerned as to how far the Government should go in using the information furnished by these informants. This award has caused considerable controversy and was the subject of a hearing by the MCIA in July, 1956, which will be mentioned in detail in Part VI of this memorandum.

PART II

LEADERCHIP IN THE RUND (October 1, 1956, to December 31, 1956)

OFFICERS

Robert M. Hutchins - President

Hutchins spoke before a Ford Hall Forum audience at Boston, Kassachusetts, on 11/25/56, and stated that the United States Supreme Court decision on school desegregation has enhanced American leadership and prestige abroad. He added that "for the purpose of gaining adherence of the peoples of the earth in the struggle against communism the moral force of America is nore important than her military and economic power." (11/26/56 "Boston Traveler," 62-101037-A)

Wilbur H. Ferry - Vice President

By letter dated 7/24/56 Carroll Colby, Briarcliff Lanor, New York, advised that the local high school had instituted a 15-week "essential ideas seminar" for gifted sentors. The program consists of viewing 15 films produced by Dr. Mortimer Adler, an advocate of world Government, under a grant of $13,000 from the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education. The project was started by Vilbur H. Ferry, a member of the school board and an officer of the FFR.

Colby has now made available material which the American Legion Briarcliff Post No. 1054 on 10/29/56 presented before the Briarcliff Board of Education, calling upon the Board to abandon the above-mentioned seminar in view of critical references to Adler, the FFR and Ferry. This patter received considerable publicity in various November, 1956, issues of the "Citizens Register," on Ossining, New York, newspaper.

Colby also made available a copy of a letter dated 11/5/56 from Ralph Ferguson Lewis, former Bureau Agent and now chairman of the Briarcliff School Board, to George Kay, Commander of the Briarcliff Legion Post. Lewis was critical of the local Legion Post and stated that the school board would take no action on the Legion's ultimatum to abandon the seminar program. Lewis added further that the school board was going on record as being opposed to any kind of loyalty oaths for teachers.

Regarding the above, we furnished a blind memorandum dated 11/19/56 to Colby containing additional public source material regarding Ferry and the Freedom Agenda Program, an FRE sponsored community discussion of civil liberties matters, which is currently being introduced in Briaroliff. (94-46157-74)

Adam Yarmolinsky - Secretary

According to the 11/26/56 "Bashington Post and Times Herald," a panel of lawyers agreed the night before that the Stanley Anti-Integration Plan was unconstitutional; that the Virginia General Assembly knew it and was using the Plan to prolong litigation for "they hope, generations."

The lawyers discussed the question, "Is the Stanley Plan Constitutional?" before a public meeting sponsored by the Community Council for Social Progress in the Unitarian Church of Arlington, Virginia. Iarmolineky, a member of the panel, said that the Stanley Plan was "clearly an invasion of fundamental rights."——. "He said, "the great State of Virginia had been reduced to this situation by fear and hysteria." (62-101087-49)

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Fund for the Republic announced on 11/20/56 that Flmo Roper, public opinion analyst, had been elected chairman of the Board of Directors of the FFR succeeding Paul G. Hoffman, who will continue as a director. Robert N. Mutchins was reselected president of the Fund. Three additional board members were to-elected. They are Alicia Patterson of Rew York, editor and publisher of Newsday, Long Island newspaper; Bruce Catton of Bethesda, Karyland, historian; and Harry S. Ashmore of Little Rock, Arkansas, executive editor of the Arkansas Gasette.

The Fund also announced the rettrement of three board members whose terms have expired: Chester Bowles, John Lord O'Brian, on attorney, and James B. Zellerbach, (11/21/56 "Washington Post and Times Herald," 100-391697-A)

Up-to-date summaries have been prepared concerning Roper and Patterson (Bureau file 100-391697-437); Catton (Bureau file 121-12554-26); and Ashmore (Bureau file 100-407065-4).

STAFF HEHBERS

Michael Harrington

According to the 12/12/56 issue of the "Hew York World Telegram and Sun," the HCUA is investigating Harrington, whom the FFR recently elevated to be the director of its "American Traditions" project which is described in Part IV of this memorandum. According to the article, three years ago, Narrington openly joined forces with the Independent Socialist League (ISL) and is currently active in this organization, a revolutionary Karrist movement cited as subversive by the Attorney General.

The above article also noted that Harrington had been the number two wan to supervise the Fund's survey on blacklisting in the entertainment industry which culminated in a two volume "Report on Blacklisting," the subject of ECUA hearings at Eashington, D. C., during July, 1956. The article added that Harrington's employment by the Fund is expected to figure prominently in the HCUA full-scale hearings on the Fund some time after 1-1-57.

According to the article, Ur. Harrington's "extremist left-wing" background was brought to light this week by "Advertising Agency Lagazine" in its 7,000-word, exhaustive voudy of the Funds "Deport on Blacklisting."
Advertising Agency's survey concluded: "It is hard to envision his (Ur. Harrington's) being sympathetic toward anything 'capitalistic', and objectivity under those conditions tould seem nost difficult to achieve." In its minutely-de-tailed analysis of the Fund's report, Advertising Agency concluded it was "loaded," it "contributed a great deal of misinformation" and it "has only confused the issue." The magazine's survey called it "sensational and not objective" and it questioned the "brand of journalism with which it was written." It particularly criticized John Cogley, the author, for his failure to follow the "basic journalistic practice" of cross-checking statements and his reliance on unnamed sources. (94-8-20/-22/)

Marrington has been the subject of a securitytype investigation conducted by this Eureau since 1954 and is currently on the Security Index.

He has participated in socialist activities since 1953 and is reported as the National Chairman of the Young Socialist League and is a member of its National Action Executive Committee during 1955-1956. He is not know to be a member of the Independent Socialist League but has attended various activities of this organization and the Socialist Touth League (cited by the Attorney General) since 1954. As of 10-24-56 he was employed as project director by the FFR. (100-411915)

Irving Ferman advised Ur. Nickols on 1/24/57 that he had lunch with Elmo Roper (chairman of the Fund's board) and Robert Hutchins recently in New York City. He said he found Hutchins considerably chastened, very affable and almost admitting that the Fund had made tremendous mistakes. Ferman did not get anything too specific but gained the impression that the Fund might underwrite a study of wire tapping. (100-391697-448)

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

According to the 3/8/57 issue of the "Mashington Post and Tines Herald," the Fund on that date announced the election of the following individuals to the Board of Directors: forner Senator Herbert H. CONSULTANTS TO THE FUND

Walter Hillis. Consultant

The January 10, 1957, issue of "The Reporter" contains an article by Walter Millis which is critical of "The FBI Story," written by Don Whitehead. He states that "this ostensible report to the people" fails to supply the amount of kind of information about our secret police that would be necessary to gauge fairly its adequacy, its efficiency, its motivations, and its political and social implications."

Kestnbaum stated that he decen't think there is any hope that Lationalist Chiang Rai-Shek will over again lacd China; therefore, we chould recognize communist China. Kestabaum's statement was innediately challenged by Senator Styles Dridges, who indicated that he should be called before the Cenata Foreign Relations Countities to explain the lackground of his views. Regindous was also repudiated by Secretary of State Silles, who declared en Eirch 12, 1957, that it would not be in the Inited States' interest to recognize communist China and seat it in the United Lations. ("Mashington Post and Times Herald," Harch 10, 1957; "The New York Tines," Lurch 13, 1957)

ETABLE TENTES

John Cogley

The Lirector's article, "The Confidential Lature of FDI Deports," in the fall, 1956 issue of the "Lyracuse Lew Review," mentioned an author who had written a publication pertaining to blacklisting in entertainment industry and who rejused to divulge identifies of his informants, while the tax-exempt foundation for which he was writing becated the concept of placing evidence in information received by the Government from informants.

John Cogley, a member of the Fund's staff, by letter to the Euresu dated April 4, 1957, stated he is the author of the publication in cuestion ("Report on Placklisting"). His letter deals with his refusal to neve anonymous sources when cuestioned July 10, 1950, by the House Committee on Un-American Letivities (HGJA) when the committee was investigating the blacklisting report. Copley objects to the Director's article, claiming that there is no parallel between an cuthor's refusal to neve informants and the Government's use of informants. Le accuses the Director of confusing these issues but wakes no sound argument in his contention. With the Director's approval, no reply was hade to Copley's letter. (62-103335-2)

April 12, 1957, issue of the "Fashington Post and Times Herald," stated that Cogley has recently written an article entitled "The Vitnesses" Dilemea, " which appeared in "The Commonwealth." Sokolsky claims that Cogley quotes him as follows:

W ...

"Civil libertles are always impaired by congressional accentitees.... The fundamental trial by jury, the right of a day in court, the right to be represented by counsel and many other basic civil rights are impaired."

Sokolsky claims the above statements appeared in his article published in the Earch 25, 1040, issue of the New York "Herald Tribune." Sokolsky stated that in referring to this article, Cogley permitted himself generous but uncivil liberties in his quotation of Sokolsky and did not quote the complete article to give an accurate picture. STAFF HEUDERS

Joseph P. Luford

The April 14, 1958, issue of the "New Republic" carried an article on page 11 captioned "To the Mothers of America" by Joseph P. Lyford. The article was a victous, underhanded attack upon the Director of the FDI although he is not mentioned by name anywhere in the article. The Director is repeatedly referred to as the "Sig Policeman" and his opinions, his writings, and his position are belittled and ridiculed in the article. (94-3-4-690-101)

The three-year report of the FFR distributed on June 22, 1956, reflected that Joseph P. Lyford was a staff nember of the FFR. A summary of information contained in Bureau files re Lyford may be found in 100-891697-281.

Completed Productions

There are comparatively few completed productions which can be attributed to the Fund. Those which have been finished are set forth below:

Compilation of Statutes and Executive Orders on Loyalty-Security

In November, 1954, the Fund appropriated $21,000 for the preparation of a compilation of laws and regulations relating to the loyalty-security program.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 15, 30

According to the December 22, 1954, issue of The New York

Times, in December, 1954, the Fund was furnished a 101-page compilation of statutes, executive orders, and other regulations pertaining to the loyalty-security program. The report of the Fund indicates that the research was performed by Sandra Weinstein and Ralph S. Brown, Jr., of the Yale Law School.

Brown has authored articles critical of the loyalty-security program. In an article in the July, 1953, issue of the Yale Law Journal; he attacked and belittled the Coast Guard Screening Board for relying on confidential informants of the FBI whose identities are not revealed.

This article claimed the program was unconstitutional.

The Bridgeport Herald, for December 7, 1947, showed that Brown was one of a group of faculty members of the Yale Law School who signed letters to high Government officials protesting the Loyalty Program and urging abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Communism, Conformity and Civil Liberties

In June, 1953, the Fund appropriated $185,500 for a survey of American attitudes toward Communism and civil liberties. The results of this survey were published as a book by Samuel A. Stouffer entitled, Communism, Conformity, and Civil Liberties, by Doubleday and Company in 1955.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 13, 28, 38

The committee which prepared this study included the following:

Chairman: Samuel A. Stouffer
Director of Laboratory of Social Relations
Harvard University

In 1946, Stouffer was a member of the faculty of the School of Political Action and Techniques conducted by the Massachusetts Citizens Political Action Committee in Boston, Massachusetts. This organization was alleged to be under Communist influence.

Paul F. Lazarsfeld, Professor, Columbia University

The July 3, 1937, issue of The New York Times reflects that Dr. Marie Lazarsfeld, former wife of Dr. Paul Lazarsfeld, had been sentenced to three months' imprisonment in Vienna, Austria, after pleading guilty to aiding Socialists and possessing Socialist literature.

The Daily People's World for May 22, 1950, indicated that Lazarsfeld had announced his cancellation of a summer teaching appointment at the University of California in protest against the Regents' loyalty oath requirements. In October, 1943, Lazarsfeld was reported to have taken part in the program of the Writers Congress held at the University of California, Los Angeles.

The Fourth Report of the Un-American Activities Committee in the State of California, as prepared by the Joint Fact-Finding Committee to the 1948 regular California Legislature, Sacramento, California, states on page 135 that the Writers Congress held on October 1, 2, and 3, 1943, was sponsored by the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, successor to the Hollywood Branch of the League of American Writers.*

free speech forum on station WMCA, New York City. The speakers were Earl Browder, then president of the Communist Political Association, and Paul Lazarsfeld.

Alexander F. Leighton, Professor, Cornell University

Leighton was listed as a book reviewer for the June, 1945, issue of Pacific Affairs, a publication of The Institute of Pacific Relations.*

In the "Acknowledgments" section of the book Communism, Conformity, and Civil Liberties, Stouffer paid tribute to many other persons who had contributed memoranda and criticism. They included the following:

Alice Bauer

In 1946, Alice Bauer was reported to be a social acquaintance of William W. Remington and his wife, Ann.

Remington was convicted in January, 1953, of perjury and sentenced to three years in prison. Prior to the completion of this sentence, however, he was killed in prison.

Raymond A. Bauer

An article in the May 12, 1950, issue of The Washington Post newspaper stated that Bauer had been summoned on May 11, 1950, to testify before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. It was stated that some of Bauer's testimony might center on William W. Remington, with whom Bauer was friendly while both attended the Navy's Oriental Language School.

Another Government agency advised that on May 17, 1950,
Bauer told an employee of that agency about his testimony before the House Committee on that date. He told that individual that he had seen and talked to Remington on the evening of May 16, 1950. Bauer further told that individual that the committee "had nothing on him (Bauer) and he is not and never has been a Communist."

The employee of another Government agency, who is acquainted with Bauer; advised in June; 1954, that he considered Bauer an apologist for the Soviet Union since Bauer would defend the Soviet Union's actions and sometimes argues quite vehemently in favor of the Russians. He also considered Bauer to have been very friendly with William W. Remington when both were stationed? in Washington, D. C.

On May 19, 1950, Bauer admitted that he knew Remington, having first met him April, 1944, when both were assigned to the Naval Oriental Language School in New York. He related that he came to know Remington quite well thereafter and had last seen him in approximately May, 1949. He also admitted that he was socially acquainted with Mrs. Remington.

Talcott Parsons

In May, 1945, Parsons was a member of the Educational Committee of the American Committee for Spanish Freedom.* Parsons admitted being a sponsor of the John Reed Club* at Harvard University.

M. Brewster Smith

The Portland Oregonian for January 27, 1938, listed Brewster Smith as one of the members of the Executive Committee of the American Student Union* chapter of Reed College.

The Bureau of Academic Freedom of the National Council of Arts, Sciences and Professions* issued a statement on March 1, 1949, to the effect that 150 educational leaders from more than 50 American colleges *See Appendix for citation.

and universities had urged the president of the University of Washington to reinstate, with full rights of tenure, three professors recently discharged from the university for membership in or "ambiguous relationship to" the Communist Party. Smith was listed as a signer of the statement.

Shirley Star

Another Government agency conducting personnel and intelligence investigations, advised that Star indicated that from 1936 to 1938 she had been a member of the American Student Union.*

Gordon Allport

Gordon Allport is further identified in the section describing the Commission on Race and Housing.

The primary objective of the study which produced Stouffer's book, Communism, Conformity, and Civil Liberties, according to comments on the jacket of the book itself, was to "sound out America's attitude toward the threat of Communism, its feeling about conformity, and its respect for civil liberties."

Stouffer assessed the Communist menace in the following manner:

*See Appendix for citation.

"...there can be no denying that some Americans in the past, including some well-educated people, were victimized by Communist ideology. It does not necessarily follow, as some Americans seem to think, that the same thing is happening today and that our youth in schools and colleges or our government workers or factory employees are being successfully subverted to become traitors to the United States and secret agents of world revolution.

which some Communists believe in, or profess to believe in, are also sincerely believed by some Americans today who are loyal to America and bitterly opposed to Russia. The difficulty, of course, is to counteract the belief that the holding or propagation of any such beliefs, especially as they deviate from traditional American thinking, is 'playing Russia's game.'

"...It is doubtful whether any Americans, except for the small core of Communists and a scattering of rightwing Fascist extremists, believe in or preach political dictatorship. It is likewise doubtful whether any but a handful of disciplined Communists favor or advocate the domination of the world by Russia..."

Samuel A. Stouffer, Communism, Conformity, and Civil Liberties, pp. 165, 167

Stouffer observed that very few individuals were concerned about either the Communist threat or the threat to civil liberties. Nevertheless, Stouffer concluded that "one must not draw the inference... that the internal Communist menace or the chipping away of civil liberties does not constitute a serious problem merely because the general public is not deeply anxious about either of these problems."

Bibliography on the Communist Problem in the United States and Digest of the Public Record of Communism in the United States

In June, 1953, the Fund appropriated $64,500 for a study of official records relating to Communist activity. Two volumes were published by the Fund in 1955. The first-named work is devoted to literature relating to Communism in the United States since 1919; the second is a record of public proceedings, court prosecutions, legislation, executive action, et ceteraconcerning Communists and Communism in this country. As a result of this study, two volumes entitled, Bibliography on the Communist Problem in the United States and Digest of the Public Record of Communism in the United States were published by the Fund in 1955. These books have been distributed by the Fund to university, research and public libraries.

The committee which prepared this study included Clinton Rossiter, professor, Cornell University. Another Government agency conducting intelligence investigations advised that Clinton Lawrence Rossiter II, Cornell University professor, had been disapproved for security clearance because in 1953 he gave as a reference a person who had been listed as one of the individuals controlling the American Russian Institute, * Hollywood, California.

Case Studies in Personnel Security

In June, 1954, the Fund appropriated $100,000 for a compilation of the facts on individual cases under the loyalty-security program. This survey was directed and edited by Adam Yarmolinsky, a Washington, D.C., attorney.

In 1955, a book by Yarmolinsky entitled Case Studies in Personnel Security was published by The Bureau of National Affairs. It includes summaries of 50 case histories of individuals whose cases were processed under various Federal personnel security programs.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 15, 28, 39

This study tends to reflect the thinking of W.H. Ferry of The Fund for the Republic. In a memorandum dated March 1, 1955, captioned "The Fund for the Republic, Inc., Loyalty-Security Case Study," which memorandum was signed W. H. Ferry, Vice-President, it was stated that The Fund for the Republic had undertaken, as part of a fact-finding study of the operation of government loyalty and security programs, to collect case histories of several hundred cases arising under the various Federal personnel security programs covering Government employees, employees of Government contractors, merchant seamen and port workers. This memorandum also stated that the Fund had made a special grant to the Association of the Bar of the City of New York to establish a committee on the Federal loyalty-security program which had been asked to look into all aspects of the programs and to make recommendations for changes, as such changes, in the committee's judgment, were needed. The memorandum also noted that the case histories would be for the confidential use of The Fund for the Republic and the Special Committee of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and that they would not be circulated beyond that point: Ferry, in his memorandum, further stated that it was proposed to prepare a limited number of cases in a form which would make it possible to circulate them without restriction.

In the introduction to his book, Case Studies in Personnel Security, Yarmolinsky stated that the 50 cases presented in that book had been collected in the course of a study of several hundred cases arising under the various Federal personnel security programs and that the study was still in progress. It was further stated, in the introduction of Yarmolinsky's book, that in each instance the employee was asked, through his lawyer, whether he would be willing to release the report of his case for general distribution and that the cases appearing therein were among those in which such a release had been obtained. Yarmolinsky further stated that about one-half of the cases collected had been made available only on the understanding that they would be circulated in-confidence to the members of the Committee and the personnel of The Fund for the Republic and would not be released for general distribution. Yarmolinsky admits that the fact that such cases were not included in his book may have had an effect on the sample.

This sampling which excludes the cases arising under the Truman Loyalty program (Executive Order 9835) is so limited, when contrasted with the results of the nation's complete loyalty-security program which involved approximately 6 million cases, as to be misleading and relatively worthless as a criterion for judgment.

The Tablet, a Catholic weekly, in its issue of August 20, 1955, said that the 50 cases selected by Yarmolinsky contained snatches of testimony which could be used to make the loyalty checks appear absurd. "The purpose of the report," the article said, "was clearly aimed at duping those who believe everything in print must be true into believing that any group that is engaged in the investigation of Communist and Soviet agents in this country is stupid, ineffective, and expendable."

An editorial in the Fort Lauderdale (Florida) Daily News for September 3, 1955, stated, "...Out of 2,260,000 employees screened since the 1953 origin of the security check, the 'study' offered 50 cases in which testimony could be manipulated to make the whole program seem unfair and ridiculous."

Yarmolinsky was assisted by an advisory committee which included Roger D. Fisher, also a Washington, D. C., attorney.

It was reported that an individual believed to be identical with Fisher attended the annual closed meeting of the American Youth Congress* on February 7, 8, and 9, 1941, in Washington, D. C.

The Draftee and Internal Security

In November, 1954, the Fund authorized a program of fellowships and grants-in-aid and appropriated $115,000. Rowland Watts, national secretary of the Workers Defense League, was among those who received a grant-in-aid from the Fund for a study of "undesirable" discharges given drafted servicemen by the Army based on preinduction activities or associations.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 40

Watts began this study on his own initiative under the sponsorship of the Workers Defense League, and while his work was in progress he received the grant-in-aid from The Fund for the Republic.

Committee on Un-American Activities as the defense organization of the Socialist Party.

Investigation of Un-American Propaganda
Activities in the United States. Hearings before a Special Committee on Un-American Activities, 75th Congress, 3rd Session,
H. Res. 282 (Washington: Government
Printing Office, 1938)

In 1955, a two-volume work entitled The Draftee and Internal Security by Watts was released by the Workers Defense League. Volume I sets forth Watts analysis and conclusions regarding the Army Military Personnel Security Program as it affects draftees. Volume II outlines 49 case studies out of the 110 cases reviewed by Watts.

In Volume I, Watts concludes that the Army has challenged in regulation and practice every right "to which every young man subject to the Universal Military Training and Service Act is entitled."

Rowland Watts

Watts has stated that in 1942 he became president of the Maryland Council for Conscientious Objectors and represented other conscientious objectors in court. On December 26, 1942, he was ordered by Local Draft Board 20, Baltimore, to report to a conscientious objectors' camp in Maryland, after which he was transferred as a conscientious objector worker to the Connecticut State Hospital for the Mentally Insane for two and one-half years, this assignment terminating in December, 1945. Watts has admitted this and further stated that in February, 1946, he started his employment with the Workers Defense League and, since 1947, has served as national secretary of that organization.

Watts was one of a number of persons who appeared on the stage of the Labor Temple in New York City on February 12, 1947, in a public demonstration of the Break with Conscription Committee. These individuals denounced the draft and the Selective Service Act and either tore up their draft cards or announced they had previously done so in Washington or had sent them by mail to the President.

In the Fall of 1951, the New York branch of the Independent Socialist League* sponsored a series of lectures at Labor Action Hall in New York City. Watts was scheduled to speak on September 6, 1951, on the subject "The Loyalty Program and Security Screening - How it threatens our democracy." Watts was reported to have been active on behalf of individuals and groups that claimed to have been unjustly affected by applications of the loyalty program.

In 1952, Watts was listed among the members of the national advisory council of the War Resisters League, a nonsectarian, interracial, pacifist organization affiliated with the War Resisters International, an international pacifist organization. Many of the League's officials and *See Appendix for citation.

members have refused to register for any selective service training program and have publicly urged others claiming conscientious objection to war to do likewise.

DISTRIBUTION OF BOOKS, ARTICLES, AND OTHER MATERIAL

The report of The Fund for the Republic (pp. 41-42) reflects the distribution of various materials pertinent to the Fund's aims and objectives.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 41-42

Commenting on this distribution, David Lawrence wrote in his newspaper column that the Fund's money was being used to distribute books, pamphlets, and speeches by those who are opposed to the present security program. Lawrence pointed out that no attempt has been made to permit the rebuttal of those writings, 'many of which are false and contain misleading statements and half-truths.'

The Evening Star (Washington, D. C.), September 16, 1955

George Sokolsky observed in one of his columns that "one phase of political propaganda is the uninvited, unsolicited, unpaid-for distribution of material on one side of a question with the object of influencing public opinion."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, June 8, 1955

In another column, Sokolsky noted, "The list is all one-sided.

It is anti-FBI, anti-congressional committees investigating subversives."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, August 30, 1955

Congressman B. Carroll Reece, in a speech before the House of Representatives on July 21, 1955, declared that,"Another activity in the one-sided political propaganda field of the Fund for the Republic is the free and unsolicited distribution of books to Federal judges and college presidents throughout the United States."

Banned Books

As of May 31, 1955, the Fund had distributed 275 copies of Banned Books, by Anne Lyon Haight.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 41

The author states that most books are banned because of religion, politics or morality "making the offense one of heresy, treason or obscenity...." She includes some books on the list because in her opinion they were under fire for subversive reasons or "because their authors were accused of having subversive opinions."

-58

Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists

The Fund-distributed 25,000 copies of a special issue on loyalty-security in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists dated April, 1955, Volume XI, Number 4.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955; p. 41

Congressman Reece, in the July 21, 1955, speech previously referred to, declared that this issue was devoted entirely to attacks on the security and loyalty program of the Government and to praise of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, chairman of the Bulletin's board of sponsors.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in a radio broadcast on August 25, 1955, said the special issue was given over to a defense and glorification of Oppenheimer and a series of attacks on the Government's loyalty and security program in general.

In June, 1954, following a hearing before an Atomic Energy Commission Personnel Security Advisory Board which formally inquired into Oppenheimer's past association with the Communist Party, its members and sympathizers, his clearance for access to classified data was revoked.

The Board found that Oppenheimer's continuing conduct and associations reflected a serious disregard for the requirements of a security system and that a susceptibility to influence had been found which could have serious implications for the security interests of the country. While the Board concluded that Oppenheimer was a loyal citizen, it had been unable to arrive at a conclusion that it would be clearly consistent with the security interests of the United States to reissue Oppenheimer's clearance.

The first article in the special issue of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists dated April, 1955, is entitled "Security and Science Sacrificed to Loyalty" by Professor Edward Shils of the University of Chicago. Shils article infers that those who took no part in formulating security-loyalty regulations were "bullied and misled by a very small minority of vociferous demagogues and their febrile popular following."

While a student at the University of Chicago in 1937, Shils was a member of the American Student Union.*

Ralph S. Brown, Jr., wrote one article and contributed to another article in this special issue. He criticized the loyalty-security program as a "shocking waste of resources" since thousands are engaged in the administration of security programs. Brown has been described previously in connection with Fund productions.

*See Appendix for citation.

Cornell Series in Civil Liberties

Robert E. Cushman, a consultant for the Fund, * was the advisory editor of the Cornell Series in Civil Liberties distributed by the Fund. Seven books were published in this series although the report of the Fund does not specifically state that all seven were distributed. These books are described below.

The first book published in the series was Security, Loyalty and Science (1950) by Walter Gellhorn, professor of law at Columbia.

University. Statements by the author in this book minimize the Communist threat, the effects of espionage, and call the loyalty and security programs defective. Gellhorn presents false information concerning the FBI, stating that special squads of FBI Agents are given technical indoctrination courses and are then stationed in laboratories of the Atomic Energy Commission.

This statement is false in its entirety.

Gellhorn also edited The States and Subversion (1952), which consists of a series of articles by different authors relating to the efforts made by various states to combat subversion. In varying degrees, the authors conclude that the States of Illinois, Maryland and Michigan were wrong or failed in their objective. Gellhorn's own comments again tend to minimize the influence and threat of Communism in this country. He concludes that legislation enacted to control subversion has been faulty and there is a question as to the need for additional legislation in this field.

According to an article in the February 1, 1939, issue of the Daily Worker; Gellhorn, was one of one hundred and fifty professors and attorneys who attacked the Dies Committee for the manner in which it was conducting investigations.

The Daily Worker for March 15, 1948, contained an article captioned "Gellhorn Raps Un-Americans." This item refers to an article written by Gellhorn in the spring issue of The American Scholar, in which he criticizes the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and calls for resolutions that will permit a witness to have counsel, to reply to charges with oral or written statements, and to cross-examine the person who has attacked his character and reputation. Gellhorn is quoted as having said, "More important than any procedural reform, however, is conscious opposition to the Committee's bullying."

On October 16, 1950, Gellhorn gave an address before the New Haven Civil Liberties Union, an affiliate of the American Civil Liberties Union, at the Yale Law School in New Haven, Connecticut.

The subject of his address was "You and the Subversives." Gellhorn is reported to have said that he had been conducting a survey of committees of various states whose purpose was to curb subversive activities. He said that in many states, because of pressure on the state legislature, laws had been passed which are a great threat to civil liberties. Gellhorn cited examples of laws which had been passed by states with the purpose of controlling Communism. Gellhorn lamented such legislative acts and the extensive investigations made in the various institutions of education, adding that if there were any real indication of subversion, such as acts of sabotage, he would not object to the investigations.

The Washington Post and Times Herald for April 1, 1955, carried a letter to the editor captioned "Freedom to Teach." The letter was signed by a group of ten individuals, among whom was Walter Gellhorn.
The communication calls attention to the case of Dr. Paul M. Sweezy, described as a well-known writer on Marxian economics who has refused to answer certain questions asked by the Attorney General of the State of New Hampshire, pointing out that Dr. Sweezy refused to answer questions about the content of one of his lectures which dealt with the theory of socialism. This letter points out the need for free presentation, free discussion and free questioning in education, and questions the wisdom of the Attorney General's conduct in the case of Sweezy.

SESRET

The December 24, 1952, issue of the Miami-Herald-set forth that Louis Budenz, a national official of the Communist Party, USA, from 1935 to 1945, testified under oath that Gellhorn was a member of the Communist Party.

Gellhorn has also been either a member of or participated in activities of the following organizations:*

- 1. American Rescue Ship Mission
- √2. International Juridical Association
 - 3. International Labor Defense
- √ 4. National Emergency Conference
 - 5. National Emergency Conference for Democratic Rights
- / 6. National Lawyers' Guild
- √ 7. Non-Partisan Committee for the Re-election of Vito Marcantonio
- ✓ 8. Workers School, New York City

A trusted official of the American Civil Liberties Union has privately stated that Gellhorn as a member of the board of the ACLU has never taken an anti-Communist position in meetings of the board of the ACLU.

Edward L. Barrett, Jr., professor of law at the University of California, was the author of another book in the Cornell series entitled The Tenney Committee (1951). Barrett argues that legislative committees should be judged by their ability to reduce the "influence and effectiveness of *See Appendix for citation.

totalitarian groups without seriously endangering democratic pressures for improvement of the economic and social structure of our country." Barrett says, "Perhaps a case can also be made for the Communists" and makes reference to an article by Gerald W. Johnson entitled "Why Communists Are Valuable," in Harper's Magazine for January, 1950.

Vern Countryman, associate professor of law at Yale Law School, wrote a book in the Cornell series, entitled, Un-American Activities in the State of Washington (1951). Countryman charged that the Canwell Committee, which conducted the investigation in the State of Washington, did more to subvert established legal processes than any of the subjects investigated by the Committee. He charged that it accomplished all of the activities which had been proscribed and which the Committee had been authorized to investigate. In June, 1953, Countryman was reported to be a member of the

On March 4, 1954, Countryman testified before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security. He gave reasons why the Government should not and could not force registration of Communist action and front groups.

Countryman, in 1954, was a member of the national council of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee (ECLC).

*See Appendix for citation.

In August, 1954, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, a member of the national committee of the Communist Party, USA, referred to the ECLC as one of the "forces carrying on the defense of the Bill of Rights today."

Countryman was chairman of the legal committee of the New-Haven-Civil-Liberties Council. A meeting in November, 1952, had as its purpose the raising of funds for the defense of Hyman Kaplan, who was threatened with deportation because of his past Communist activities.

The Daily Worker for November 26, 1952, reflected that Countryman signed a plea for clemency for Ethel and Julius Rosenberg.

On March 29, 1951, the Rosenbergs were convicted of conspiracy to commit espionage and were subsequently executed for this crime.

In April, 1952, Countryman and Fowler Harper, another Yale professor, wrote a series of articles in the daily and Sunday Compass, a New York newspaper. The articles, captioned "Mr. Justice Douglas Dissents," discussed the dissenting opinions of Justice Douglas concerning the McCarran Act and deportation, the loyalty case of Dorothy Bailey, who was dismissed from Government service, and the case of the eleven convicted Communist Party leaders. These articles generally defend Justice Douglas' dissenting opinions in these cases.

O

Action (1951), was written by Lawrence H. Chamberlain, dean of Columbia College. This book purports to analyze thirty years of legislative control of subversive activity in the State of New York. Chamberlain characterizes two New York investigating committees as tarnished by hypocrisy and buffoonery and states that a third one may have exceeded its functions. Chamberlain strongly indicates that subversive activity is not a matter for investigation by legislative committees.

In 1952, Robert K. Carr, professor of law and political science at Dartmouth College, wrote The House Committee on Un-American Activities, 1945 - 1950, as part of the Cornell series. Carr minimizes the danger from Communism in this country and claims the only damage Communists can do is the criminal damage of espionage and sabotage. He concludes that the committee should be abolished and its work given to other established committees.

Carr was a member of an advisory committee to Walter Gellhorn in the preparation of the book Security, Loyalty and Science, and wrote one of several pamphlets disseminated by the League of Women Voters of the United States under a program called "Freedom Agenda," sponsored by the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, Inc., and financed by The Fund for the Republic.

STERET

Carr has written favorable reviews of Telford Taylor's book,

Grand Inquest, and Alan Barth's book, Government by Investigation.

Carr furnished a sworn affidavit on November 16, 1948, in behalf of the good character of William W. Remington during Remington's loyalty-review-board hearing.

William W. Remington has been identified in the section dealing with the Fund's productions.

In 1953, the last book in the Cornell series was published.

This was The Federal Loyalty-Security Program by Eleanor Bontecou.

In her book, Miss Bontecou characterizes the present period as an "unhappy era when witch hunting is prevalent and hysteria is easily induced." Although she admits there is a credit side to the loyalty-security program, she argues that the Attorney General has violated the accepted standards of due process in issuing his list; that there is unwise or clumsy administration of the loyalty order; and that the effect of the provision of the loyalty order which requires or permits the Attorney General to proscribe organizations has been to restrict freedom of association in areas entirely unrelated to Government employment. Miss Bontecou infers that the implementation of the loyalty and security programs could lead to the gradual attrition of our basic rights and liberties and she states that they must not be sacrificed with complacence.

Faceless Informers and Our Schools

In the Fall of 1954, a pamphlet consisting of a series of articles appeared in the Denver Post entitled "Faceless Informers and Our Schools." The author, Associate Editor Lawrence Martin, criticized the use of so-called "faceless informers" by state and Federal investigative agencies and decried the summary dismissal of school teachers in Colorado and elsewhere based on "anonymous, unevaluated and unsupported" charges of subversive connections received from such informers. The author did not raise the important point of whether or not the individuals were actually Communists, nor did he concern himself with the real evil—the failure of the state authorities to investigate the charges and to afford due process in making the dismissals.

Government by Investigation

The Fund has distributed 850 copies of Alan Barth's book, Government by Investigation.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 41

In this book, Barth concludes that the congressional power to investigate has in the recent past been abused and needs to be restricted in behalf of individual rights and freedoms, as well as in behalf of the independence of foundations, funds, churches, universities, the press and related groups.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his column on May 23, 1955, stated that copies of Barth's book had been distributed to Federal judges. Lewis portrayed Barth as a defender of Alger Hiss, William Remington and J. Robert Oppenheimer.

Barth has been an editorial writer for The Washington Post* since 1943, and in that time he has written numerous books, articles and editorials critical of congressional investigating committees, the Government's loyalty program and the FBI. Among them was a favorable book review of Max Lowenthal's book, The Federal Bureau of Investigation, which appeared in the December 4, 1950, issue of The New Republic.

This book criticized the Government security program and the FBI.

Barth's book, The Loyalty of Free Men, published by the Viking Press in 1951, criticized the Government's security program and also loyalty oaths for teachers.

*Now The Washington Post and Times Herald

An article by Barth which was critical of the loyalty program, appeared in the February, 1952, issue of the Progressive Magazine.

It was entitled the "Age of Doubt."

"How Good Is an FBI Report?" appeared in the March, 1954, issue of Harper's Magazine. This article criticized the Government's loyalty program and FBI reports. This criticism was answered by Senator Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona in a speech before the United States Senate on March 29, 1954, in which the false allegations contained in Barth's article were refuted.

The Baltimore Sun for May 25, 1954, reflected that Barth spoke at a meeting of the Maryland Civil Liberties Committee, a branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, on abuse of investigating powers by congressional committees.

Alan Barth's name appeared on the active indices of the American Peace Mobilization in February, 1941.*

Grand Inquest

The Fund distributed 450 copies of Grand Inquest by Telford Taylor (1955).

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 41

*See Appendix for citation.

Taylor, in this book, condemns "loyalty committees" as a sort of "irregular and irresponsible security police force" which is fast becoming an "inquisition." He claims they inflict severe punishment "outside the due and regular processes of criminal law."

In July, 1954, Taylor was retained by Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader, against whom the Federal Government had brought denaturalization proceedings on the grounds that Bridges had been a member of the Communist Party before he was naturalized in 1945. Accounts of the trial of Bridges in The New York Times indicate that Taylor actually argued the case in Federal District Court as chief counsel for Bridges. In July, 1955, the United States Court in San Francisco ruled that the Government had not proved its charges.

The New York Times, July 14, 1954, July 30, 1955, August 4, 1955.

Taylor, who is now an attorney in New York City, admitted membership in the National Lawyers! Guild* from 1935 to 1942. Taylor was reported to have been in contact or to have associated with the following individuals who have either been members of or closely associated with the Communist Party: Alger Hiss, Joseph Barnes, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Simon Gerson, Harry Bridges, Richard Sasuly and Mary Jane Keeney.

SPERETO

On January 14, 1953, Kurt Ponger and Otto Verber were arrested by United States military authorities in Vienna, Austria, and were convicted of conspiracy to commit espionage in June, 1953. Both Ponger and Verber were on Taylor's staff when Taylor was a prosecutor at the War Crimes Trials in Nuremberg, Germany from 1945 to 1948. Following his arrest, Ponger stated he would like to contact General Telford Taylor.

On a news broadcast on May 23, 1955, Fulton Lewis, Jr., pointed out that the United States Civil Service Commission had flagged Taylor's file with a code which meant "Unresolved Act on Loyalty."

Open Occupancy

"Open Occupancy" is the title of an article which appeared in the April, 1955, issue of House and Home. Fifteen thousand copies were distributed to the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing and to others in the race relations field.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 41

This article is concerned with the question of peacefully, justly and intelligently settling racial difficulties as they relate to housing.

See It Now

In connection with the interview of J. Robert Oppenheimer by Edward R. Murrow on the "See It Now" television program, one hundred and ten 16 mm. prints of this interview were distributed by the Fund to educational institutions, civic organizations and local discussion groups.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 41.

Congressman B. Carroll Reece, in his speech of July 21, 1955, previously referred to, stated as follows:

"In typical Ed Murrow fashion, the interview was a highly colored propaganda job to present to its viewers Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer as a genius, a towering figure in American science, who had been grossly abused and wrongfully accused of outrageous charges of which he was now and had always been, entirely innocent.

"Ignored entirely in this Ed Murrow Propaganda film were the details of the charges against Oppenheimer, including his own admissions that he lied repeatedly to security officers of the Manhattan District and the FBI regarding his contacts with the Soviet espionage agent, Haakon Chevalier, as well as other vital security matters."

George Sokolsky, in The Washington Post and Times Herald for February 15, 1955, wrote that "Mr. Murrow's telecast was obviously not designed to be objective; it was an opportunity for Dr. Oppenheimer to state his side and his side alone of a vexed question. To be objective, present at the same time, to present the data available to the Commission upon which it caused the separation of Dr. Oppenheimer from that body."

The Fort Lauderdale (Florida) Daily News for September 3, 1955, commented that "Murrow's judgment may be questioned, but his right to 'star' a security risk on a nationwide program can not. But use of Fund for the Republic money to circulate transcriptions of the telecast to schools and other audiences is certainly a questionable foundation activity."

The Fund also distributed five 16 mm. prints of the "See It Now" television program on book censorship in California to Southern California civic groups. This program was critical of censorship of books in California.

In 1942, Edward Murrow, London correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System, was listed in an official bulletin of the organization as a sponsor for the Committee for the Care of Young Children in Wartime.*

On April 13, 1943, the Milwaukee Sentinel stated that Edward R. Murrow was the English narrator for the Russian film, "Siege of Leningrad," an Artkino full length documentary film based on photographs taken by the Russians in 1941 and 1942.

*See Appendix for citation.

Records of the Foreign Agents Registration Section, United States Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., reflect that Artkino Pictures, Incorporated, 723 Seventh Avenue, New York City, is the registered agent of the following foreign principals for exclusive distribution of motion pictures throughout the United States:

Sovexportfilm - USSR

Magyar Filmgyarto, M. V. - Budapest, Hungary

Czechoslovak State Films, Prague, Czechoslovakia

Sovromfilm, Bucharest, Rumania

Centrala Wynajmu Filmov (Film Polski), Warsaw, Poland

An article appearing in The New York Times for March 13, 1954, entitled, "Murrow Replies--Defends '35 Role," related that Edward R.

Murrow had stated the previous day that he would claim neither "ignorance nor youth" for having served on an advisory council for a summer session of Moscow University in 1935. In rebuttal to a charge made a few days before by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, Murrow said he was only one of twenty-five persons, most of whom were distinguished educators, who served on this advisory council. According to the article, Murrow was twenty-seven years old at the time and was assistant director of the Institute for International Education. The article said that the Institute for International Education was explained by Murrow to have "dealt primarily with the exchange of students and professors between this and foreign countries." He said that the board of trustees of the organization created the advisory council in 1935 for a proposed Moscow University Summer School, but the school was "abruptly and without satisfactory explanation cancelled" in the spring by the Russian authorities and no effort was made to revive the venture. According to the article, the Institute still functioned in New York City and Murrow was one of the trustees.

In 1949, Murrow was named as a reference on the passport application of Winston Mansfield Burdett. The New York Times for June 30, 1955, reflects that Burdett testified on June 29, 1955, before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee (SISS), Washington, D. C., that he had been a Communist Party member from 1937 to 1942, and had engaged in espionage for Russia overseas. Burdett painted a dramatic and detailed picture of his spying for Russia in Finland, Rumania, Yugo-slavia, and Turkey from 1940 to 1942.

Counterattack for March 19, 1954, stated that Murrow "went to bat for Radulovich in a very cleverly slanted program that produced no evidence that Radulovich had been judged wrongly." According to

Counterattack, Lieutenant Milo Radulovich was an Air Force reserve officer who refused to resign his commission when asked to do so because it was decided that he was not a good security risk although his loyalty was not questioned.

"Strong in Their Pride and Free"

Three thousand copies of a speech by former Senator Harry P.

Cain entitled "Strong in Their Pride and Free" were distributed by the Fund.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 42

In this speech, among other things, Cain defends the use of the Fifth Amendment by Communists or others who do not wish to testify against their own interests. He also comments on security boards, informants and the organizations on the Attorney General's

"current subversive list."

As a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board, Cain, on March 18, 1955, criticized the Federal security system and called for a prompt liquidation of the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations. On that date, Cain urged that a clean bill on security be given to anyone who had been a member of any of the 250 proscribed groups - with the exception of the Communist Party - and had resigned before the list was first made public in 1947.

The Daily Worker for March 29, 1955, contained an article which, reflected that Cain had said the Attorney General's "subversive list" will destroy the American way of life if allowed to remain unchallenged.

The New York Times for May 24, 1955, stated that on the previous day, Cain had denounced the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations as a "vastly misleading security measure."

The Los Angeles Mirror-News for June 27, 1955, reflected that Cain, in a press conference, stated that because the Federal Government had become so wrapped up in security programs, it was getting a lot of Government employees who were "drones and dunderheads."". . If I had my choice, I would rather be indicted by a grand jury for the most heinous crime - murder, rape or what have you - than be accused in an administrative proceeding of being disloyal or a poor security risk.

At least I would have a better chance of proving my innocence and protecting my name and reputation."

The American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born* promoted the observance of National "Americans All" Week to be observed from October 21 to October 28, 1941. The organization's letter which made this announcement carried a list of 123 sponsors. Included in the list of sponsors was Mayor Harry P. Cain, Tacoma, Washington.
The Fifth Amendment Today

The Fund distributed 35,000 copies of Erwin N. Griswold's book The Fifth Amendment Today to the bench and bar.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 42

This book consists of three speeches given by Griswold, who is dean of the Harvard Law School. Griswold defends the use of the privilege against self-incrimination embodied in the Fifth-Amendment as a symbol of the tradition of individual liberty in this country. He says, "In protecting ourselves from the threat of Communism, we should not adopt methods of oppression here which the Communists themselves would use."

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in a radio broadcast on September 7, 1955, revealed that whereas the Fund had purchased 35,000 copies of Griswold's book and had distributed them to lawyers and judges throughout the country, it bought only 500 copies of a pamphlet reprint of an article in the Fordham Law Review by C. Dickerman Williams which took issue with Griswold. Lewis said that later, in response to requests, about 2,000 additional copies had been printed.

The Kept Witnesses

The Fund distributed to labor officials and business executives 25,000 copies of an article by Richard H. Rovere entitled "The Kept Witnesses," which appeared in the May, 1955, issue of Harper's Magazine. Rovere has been a contributing editor to this magazine since 1949.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 42

C) SECRET

Rovere's article omits any comment upon witnesses who have testified against members of the extreme "right-wing" or "native fascist" groups.

Rovere infers that men and women who furnish the FBI information are exempt from security clearance. In this, he is in error for no clearance of any kind is given to them by the FBI. The truth is that regular FBI informants are carefully investigated before the regular acceptance of information is effected. Where there are any indications that a source of information is unreliable or has serious character defects, his services and information are unacceptable to the FBI.

Rovere refers to a William Garfield Cummings as "an FBI agent." His error here is as pronounced as his errors elsewhere in the article. Cummings was never an agent of the FBI.

The Newark Star Ledger for October 4, 1955, carried an article reporting that J. Edgar Hoover and Assistant United States. Attorney General Tompkins had "lashed out at critics of the nation's security program, with an article reprinted by the Fund for the Republic receiving special attention." Tompkins stated that the article, "The Kept Witnesses," was completely without foundation in fact and hardly suggested

"a high journalistic standard." Tompkins, it stated, accused the author, Richard H. Rovere, of making baseless and uninformed statements about the Government's confidential informant system. The newspaper article went on to state that a spokesman for The Fund for the Republic subsequently stated that officers and directors of the Fund thought the Rovere article "was a good piece covering the area in which we are interested," and when asked if they could vouch for its accuracy stated, "We don't vouch for anything."

In the column, "The Editor's Opinion," appearing in the same newspaper on the same date, the following comments were made:

"The spokesman for the Fund insists it did not vouch for the article's accuracy. This is sheer quibbling. It is obvious enough that anyone receiving the article from the Fund will think that this is the Fund's own point of view.

"It seems to us that this is highly irresponsible behavior for an organization which claims to be seeking the truth. It is especially irresponsible when the material in question is a bitter and highly-colored attack on the United States Government.

"The Fund has a responsibility to make an effort to determine the truth of the material which it disseminates. It has a responsibility to try to learn the other side of the case.

"As J. Edgar Hoover put it yesterday:

"Those now furthering the campaign of vituperation against witnesses say the Communist menace is a myth created by those who testify against it. They refused to recognize the Communist enslavement of one-third of the world's people and one-fourth of the world's surface."

Rovere was an associate editor of New Masses* in 1938-1939.

Who's Who in America, 1954-1955

It has been reported that in 1938, while Rovere was at Bard College in Annandale-on-Hudson, New York, then a branch of Columbia University, he was a member of the Young Communist League (YCL)* and later became a member of the Communist Party. The same source indicated however, that Rovere disaffiliated himself from the Communist Party in 1939 and no longer had any sympathy for that organization.

Rovere has confirmed this information. He has said that during his college days, he had considered himself a Communist but could not honestly state whether he had ever had a Communist Party card in his possession.

*See Appendix for citation.

In April, 1943, another Government agency reported that in an interview with a representative of that agency, Rovere had stated he was at one time a rabid Communist but withdrew from the Communist Party when the Russian-Nazi Pact was signed.

The Pseudo-Conservative Revolt

The Fund distributed 25, 000 copies of an article which appeared in The American Scholar entitled "The Pseudo-Conservative Revolt" by Richard Hofstadter. This article was distributed to business executives, educators and churchmen.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 42

Hofstadter, who is a professor of history at Columbia University, believes that twenty years ago the dynamic force in political life in the United States came from liberal dissent. Today, he believes it is "a dynamic of dissent" coming from pseudo-conservatives. Needless to say, Hofstadter does not approve of pseudo-conservatism and is convinced that it has passed its peak and is on the wane.

George Sokolsky, in his column of June 22, 1955, remarked:
"Professor Richard Hofstadter of Columbia University is having a tough time translating himself into a conservative. Apparently the cult of liberalism is proving as unpopular in the 1950's as the cult of fellow-travelling proved to be in the late 1940's. Men who live by labels often discover that their thinking has run away from the labels, so the liberal calls himself a conservative, and Professor Hofstadter calls conservatives 'pseudo-conservatives,' whatever that may mean. He tries to tell what it means in a long article in 'The American Scholar' but gets into an interesting tangle. For instance, he makes this point:

"... After 20 years, the New Deal liberals have quite unconsciously taken on the psychology of those who have entered into possession. Moreover, a large part of the New Deal public, the jobless, distracted and bewildered men of 1933, have in the course of the years found substantial places in society for themselves, have become homeowners, suburbanites and solid citizens...."

"So, when Professor Hofstadter worries about the punitive reaction of those whom he calls pseudo-conservatives, he talks nonsense. There is no such thing. He may be worried about a general desire to kick all Communists and their friends in the teeth, but that has to do with another subject."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, June 22, 1955

To Insure the End of Our Hysteria

The Fund distributed 10,000 copies-of-an-article-by-Paul G.

Hoffman, which appeared in the magazine section of The-New York Times for November 14, 1954, entitled "To Insure the End of Our Hysteria."

It was distributed to the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee and to the American Dental Association. Hoffman is chairman of the board of directors of The Fund for the Republic.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 42

Hoffman is of the opinion that fear has been engendered in the minds of American citizens to a serious degree as a result of methods taken to combat Communism. He believes it is lessening, but is afraid that this is only temporary. Hoffman believes that the natural basis for some of the hysteria relates to espionage conducted in the United States, and he thinks that this contributed to a situation resulting in a retreat from fundamental principles and sound security conduct.

It is interesting to note that Hoffman's conclusions in regard to the pervasive influence of this fear and his conclusions as to the extent of the influence of congressional committees appear to be invalidated by the findings set forth in Samuel A. Stouffer's book, Communism, Conformity, and Civil Liberties, which has been described in a previous section dealing with productions of the Fund. It would seem that the findings of this survey leave open to doubt the extent of influence which congressional committees do have on public opinion, as well as the extent of the alleged "fear" and "hysteria" which the public is said to have suffered and is suffering from as a result of loyalty and security measures and investigations directed against Communists in the United States.

To Make Our Security System Secure

The Fund distributed 10,000 copies of an article-written by Vannevar Bush entitled "To Make Our Security System Secure." This article appeared in the magazine section of The New York Times for March 20, 1955, and was sent to educators.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 42

Bush refers to the "recent witch hunt," which he states was concentrated on scientists. He states that the present system of loyalty clearance has been used "for spite and for thought control" and is so defective that "a new system should be built from the ground up...."

Who "Collaborated" with Russia?

The Fund distributed to the National Civil Liberties Clearing House 600 copies of an article by Paul Willen entitled "Who 'Collaborated'

With Russia?" This article appeared in the Fall, 1954, issue of the Antioch Review.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 42

Willen attempts to show in his article that an almost universal pro-Russian sentiment prevailed in the United States during World War II; therefore, he indicates that no one person or group should be singled out and criticized for being pro-Russian or responsible for others being pro-Russian.

In 1949, Willen, while a student at Oberlin College, was one of the organizers of a group called "Arch Seven." This group was reported to hold meetings devoted to political discussions of Marxism and related subjects.

COURTED OFFICER AND PROJECTA

Case Studies in Personnel Jecurity

Acom Farmolinsky, who in January, 1955, completed the Flase Studies in Personnel Security," under a 163,000 grant from the Fund, advised at a press conference on D/19/55 that "our study of the trials of the security cases indicated that the accused employees the had the most skilled attorneys were able to beat the charges and get their positions back, while employees with less-skilled defenders were usually fired." He added that the whole question of the Government Loyalty and Security Program, which is being conducted behind algoed doors, is in need of orderly review. (32005, "Los Angeles Times," 100-331607-A)

In Catober, 1:55, the Eurosu received information from a reliable confidential source to the effect that Yarmolinaky in making the survey which resulted in his tooklet "case Ctudies in Fersonnel Security," had sent out a mangrandum for interviewers dated 2/11/25 and a general outline to be used in preparing histories of the cases written up which were involved in the Federal Employees Comprity Program.

According to the source the Fund paid the so-called interviewers, who were attorneys, is per hour while they were engaged in preparing the case write-upo. Tarmolinsky, in perconal correspondence with attorneys he was soliciting to participate in the program, stated "This study is intended primarily for use by a committee organized by the Association of the lar of the City of Row Tork, under a grant from the Fund, in order to make recommendations for changes in the operation of these programs. It consists of accounts of cases involving Government employees, industrial workers and merchant seamen, arising under the various Federal personnel security programs."

It is noted that the Europa propiously recoived from a confidential source, a memorandum over the signature of E. T. Kerry, Vice Fresident of the Fund, which was addressed to the Association of the Europ the City of New York and outlined the scope and method in which the study is to be hardled.

From the above information it appears that the Fund has pulled a hear on the American public in that they get the Far Association of New York City to make a survey and finance it; then the Fund through its own employee, Adam Yarmolinsky, goes out and gets the case write-ups which will be presented to the Association of the lar of the City of New York who will then make their recommendations. (New York Whols to Tolson, 10/22/55; 100-391697-263)

The Draftee and Internal Security

In November, 1954, Covland Eatts, national secretary of the Workers Lefence League, was among those who received a grant-in-aid from the fund for a study of "undestrable" discharges given drafted servicemen by the Army aced on pre-induction activities and associations. Natts completed his study in August, 1955.

Occurry To IIIIISS Was Discharge.

A latte testified before a hearing of the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights in Kashington, i. C., on 11/18/55, at which time he assailed the Army for denying honarable dispharges to some draftees because it objects to their past associations. Tatts charged that the practice "imposes punishment without conviction for a price." He called this "unconstitutional and unconscionable." (100-39/697-A-)

Latte added that he had examined more than two hundred cases of draftees the were denied honorable discharges because of their associations, however remote, with persons of organizations hallowed to be subversive. He stated that "stijmatizes" these draftees for life. Te asserted that they do not get a fair hearing and that the armed services should revise their procedures drastically "to cut the many injustices." Natts stated that the ling is using the same policies the Government uses in civilian employee cases, the difference being that Covernment employment is a privilege and service in the Army is a duty for the draftee. (Washington City hews Lervice, 11/18/55; 100-3016)7-A)

Fibliography on The Communist Problem In The United States

Ly way of background, the Fund in June, 1953, appropriated $64,500 for a study of public records concerning Communism, under the direction of Professor Arthur & Joutherland of the Marvard Ldw Cohool. Two books were published by the Fund in Junuary, 1955; the "Bibliography on the Communist Froblem in the United States" and the "Digest of the Public Record of Communism in the United States." Doth books have been reviewed by the Central Research Section. These books were distributed by the Fund to libraries, educational institutions, and Covernment agencies. Clinton Lossiter, Cornell University professor, was included in the committee which prepared these studies:

Subsequent to its distribution the "Pibliography" received considerable criticism in the press from sobolars and writers alaming that important anti-Communist works had been emitted. Among them are the following:

Philip Taft, professor of economics at Brown University stated, "Tou deserve a note of thanks from the Communist Farty.
For non-Communists, it is an outrageous performance."

James T. Farrell, noveligt and chairman of the American Committee for Unitaryl Freedom, charged the writers with "inexcusurite sloppiness."

John 1. Sections, assistant director of the International Ladies Carnent Workers Inion, charged that instead of directing, future research workers to "the most significant available materials," the Fund's dibliography could only have the opposite effect of directing them away from some of the "most telling indictments of Communist methods." Lit is noted that according to the press, was sions made these criticisms although he was then working on another fund project, a study of Communist front groups.

Laufd Freenan, secretary of the Fund, stated that the Fund has decided to revise its "Pibliography" to correct some of their mistakes and will include works of some of the outstanding anti-Communist writers. This review will be carried out by Clinton Lossiter. [106-31697-4] (10/29/55 issues of "Gen York Times," "Foston Fost," "Hew York Journal-American," "Tashington Post and Times Herald," "Washington News," and "New York Fork Forld Telegram and Sun.") (100-39/647-4)

The above criticisms of John A. Sessions are also reflected in an article written by him appearing in the Cotober 31, 1955, issue of "The hew Leader," entitled "A Miscleadiny Guide to United Lietes famounism." In addition to the above criticisms, Costons states that the emission of anti-communist references in the Fund's "Bibliography" could have been caused by two things: That the book resulted from incompetence or that somehow the "anti-anti-Communist" attitude has touched thin work. Sessions recommended that this bibliography be redone.

The 11/1/55, "foston American" newspaper, contains an editorial entitled "The Fund's Book Foomerangs," which is critical of the Fund and the bibliography. The editorial states that "the slanted bibliography is among the other slanted activities of the Fund... until the bibliography is thoroughly revised, we propose it should be withdrawn from use by the libraries and institutions to which it has been sent."

An editorial entitled "Funny Eustness in a Fund," appearing in the 11/8/55 issue of the "Chicago Tribune" newspaper, states in part "... a question remains -- why the Fund for the Republic, with a large budget allocated to a supposed objective study of Communism, always contribes to wind up on the anti-anti-Communist side."

that he was successful in interviewing the two individuals who did the original research on the "Dibliography." He identified these individuals as Russell L. Brenneman, Jr., and his wife Frederica, both of whom are members of the District of Columbia Far. According to Lewis, the Brennemans indicated that they were hired by the staff director of the project shortly after their graduation from Larvard in 1953. They were originally instructed to do a pilot survey to see if there were already in existence some bibliographies on the subject of Communism and to determine how extensive a job it would be to prepare such a bibliography. They later reported to the staff director (Charles E. Corker,) who, according to Lewis was just out of a mental hospital in California, and the Brennemans decided to go on with the project. Come of their work was done at the Library of Congress, and some at Carried. They received no specific instructions and went shead with their work making cards on every reference to every phase of Communism they could find. They reportedly used no editorial selectivity and turned all of this material over to the staff director. They do not know that happened to the cards after that and kept no record of the cards they turned in.

On his September 21, 1955, broadcast, Fulton Lewis, Jr., stated that the fund distributed a recument purporting to be a "seport on Security Problems" released by the subcompletee of the Cenate Committee on Government Operations. This report, thich was distributed to rederal Judges throughout the United States in August, 1955, was an attack on the scourtty system of the Federal Government. According to Lewis the math part of the document is a copy of a particular the Congressional Lecord of E/RY/EE. Bowever, the report included a statement nede by Lengtor Entert Caphrey Litch was ortited of the Equernment's sequrity system. This statement was errenequely labeled to indicate that it was the official report of the Eugeomnittee and not Leaster Jumphrey's statement. Case Studies in Personnel Security

In January, 1955, Adam Tarmolinsky, a merber of the Fund's staff, completed a survey of the Government's security programs, under a $65,000 grant from the Fund. He published the results in a booklet entitled "Case Studies in Personnel Security," which includes a surpary of fifty case historics processed under various Federal personnel security programs. An analysis of these case histories was made by the Esployees Security Section. The enalysis revealed that thirty-one of these cases involved civilian Covernment employees. Remaining ninetoen relate to other socurity programs, principally the program covering industrial employees. Pursuant to the Department's request, various governrental agencies have reviewed largolinsky's survey and have identified the cases involving employeds with their agency. Trenty-seven such cases have been identified to date. Comments from the Government agencies indicate that Yarmolinsky's survey contains a number of indequipte, misleading and incomplete statements. These tend to present the Government's position in an unfavorable light. No criticism of the Bureau is contained in Tormolinsky's material. Bibliography on the Commist Problem in the United States

Dy way of background the Fund in June, 1953, appropriated £64,500 for a study of public records conderning communism. The results were published in two books in January, 1955, entitled "Bibliography on the Communist Problem in the United States" and the "Digest of the Public Record of Communism in the United States." Both books have been reviewed by the Central Recearch Section.

The above-mentioned books were the subject of an article entitled "Spotlight on the Communist Problem," which appeared in the December 15, 1055, issue of the "Marvard Law School Record," published at Marvard University. This article sets forth considerable detail regarding the nature and type of information that has been included in the above books together with the identities of the respective authors quoted. It commands the Fund and Professor Arthur E. Sutherland of Marvard University, who was in charge of the project for publishing these works which are described as "useful tools for students and scholars inferested in the phenomena of American communium."

Blacklisting in Private Industry

In September, 1954, the Fund authorized $100,000 for a study of alleged blacklisting in the notion plature, radio and television industries, under the direction of John Cogley.

On June, 24, 1955, the Fund for the Republic announced the completion of the above-mentioned study by Cogley in a two-volume report. The Fund says that blacklisting of entertainers is wide spread in the movie, radio and television industries, however, the practice is much less prevalent in the theatre. According to the report blacklisting is "almost universally accepted as a fact of life" in Hollywood. The report said, "all the studios are now unanimous in their refusal to hire persons identified as Communist Party members who have not subsequently testified in full before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The studios are equally adament about not hiring witnesses who have relied upon the Fifth Amendment before Congressional committees."

The report said that blacklisting is "more complicated" in the radio and television fields than in Hollywood. In radio-TV themeport said, "advertising agencies, networks, program packagers and sponsors all have a voice in deciding who will be used. The result is a multiplicity of lists and procedures, different policies on different networks, the creation of a secret and labyrinthine world of political screening."

SECRET O

In a preface to the report, Paul Hoffman, chairman of the board of the Fund commented "Mr. Cogley has tried to give a detailed picture of a situation as it exists. He has brought in no indictments and has offered no recommendations." (6/25/56, Washington Star, 100-391697-A)

Bureau files fail to reflect any pertinent information concerning Cogley.

It is noted that/an item appearing in the 5/5/56 issue of "The Nation," Elizabeth Poe, a Los Angeles, California, writer, had recently completed the study of the political blacklisting in the motion picture industry for the Fund. Bureau files fail to reflect any pertinent information concerning Poe.

Frederick Woltman, columnist, in an article appearing in the June 25, 1956, issue of the "Washington News," stated that the entire radio-TV industry took a shellacking in the Fund's real test on the issue of communism. Woltman, referring to Cogley's report on blacklisting, stated that while in no wise procommunist, the report cannot help but bring joy and comfort to the communists. He stated that a careful reading of the report leaves these conclusions. (1) It can only throw confusion on a major problem of the industry which already has been straightening itself out. (2) By the use of loaded expressions throughout and the selection and grouping of some facts and the omission of more salient facts, it gives a distorted and often false picture. (3) Because its author, John Cogley, rubber stamps the basic philosophy of the Fund's president Robert M. Hutchins (that the Communist Party is a legitimate political party and not a criminal conspiracy), the entire slant of the report runs counter to the main stream of American thought today. (100-391697)

With reference to Cogley's report on blacklisting, Senator Karl E. Mundt, stated on 6/25/56 that this report "gives aid and comfort to communists in this country and abroad." Mundt in a Senate speech stated that it was "tremendously disquieting" that the Fund's tax-exempt money "is being used to discredit activities engaged in by Americans trying to free themselves of the dangers of the communist menace."

Mundt said he has written the Internal Revenue Commissioner Harrington for his reaction to the Fund's tax-exempt status "in view of its constantly notorious reputation for propaganda." (Washington City News Service, 6/25/56, 100-391697-A)

Service, 6/25/56, 100-391697-A)

NON CONSTITUTE

On 6/28/56, Chairman Francis E: Walter of the HCUA announced that his committee has ssubplenaed Cogley to appear July 10, and discuss his report of "blacklisting." The Congressman said that he wants Cogley to appear in executive session and to give him the names of the entertainers blacklisted and the names of the people who were doing the blacklisting. Cogley's report did not list names. Walter said that the report "levels very grave charges against organizations and persons in the entertainment industry whose efforts have been directed toward eliminating the menace of the communist conspiracy in the United States."

A spokesman for the Fund said that Cogley's report simply presents the facts on blacklisting practices in the entertainment industry. It does not level any charges nor express any opinions. Revertheless, the spokesman said Cogley will comply with the committee's summons.

Regarding the HCUA's subpoend, Cogley stated on 6/29/56 that he does not think it is "right" for the committee to question him regarding his "confidential sources of information." He said he was "stunned" when he received the subpoend but that he would answer it. (Washington City News Service, 6/28/56, 6/29/56, 100-391697-A)

An editorial appearing in the 6/27/56/Journal-American" criticized the Fund's report on blacklisting as further conclusive evidence of the Fund's anti-anticommunist thinking and activities. According to the editorial the report is not importial and factual as claimed by the Fund. It is a "subtle and sometimes not so subtle attack on the efforts of the radio, television and motion picture industries to keep communists and communist camp followers out of their fields of communication. (100-391697-A)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his broadcast 7/1/56 described the Fund's report on blacklisting as "one of its most blatantly anti-anticommunist effusions yet." Lewis said, like many of the Fund's documents it is written in carefully selected verbiage intended to create a mask of objectivity and impartiality. But its whole tenor is that it is heinous to object to spending our entertainment dollars or to object to sponsors spending their TV or radio advertising dollars for the financial betterment of communists or their sympathizers. (94-4-2189)

An editorial appearing in the June 27, 1956, issue of the "Washington News" states that the Fund's report on blacklisting apparently sees anticommunism as a greater menace than communism. According to the editorial, the report claims that an unspecified number of persons were denied employment in radio and television because of "political affiliations" or "past political associations." The editorial claims that like its president, Robert M. Butchins, the Fund "does not distinguish between political activity and the communist conspiracy."

The editorial asserts that nowhere in the report is there anything about how many unfairly have been denied TV or radio jobs. Nost of the alleged "victims" are unnamed, and so are the sources of information. "Considering Ur. Rutchins avowed distasts for faceless informers, that's an extense commentary." The Fund, the editorial states, vouches for the "integrity of the authors and the importance of their studies." But it specifically does not vouch for "their selection of facts or for the accuracy of their statements." The editorial in conclusion stated that the report "smacks more of boundagiling than usefulness." (100-391697-A)

DISTRIBUTION OF BOOKS, ARTICLES AND OTHER MATERIAL

On May 10, 1956, Autohins announced that the Fund will finance and distribute 50,000 copies of a Department of Defense pamphlet entitled "The Are the Communists and Thy?" (New York Daily News, 5/10/56)

The above-mentioned pamphlet, which was issued on December 8, 1955, for the Department of Defense, has been reviewed by the Central Research Section. The pamphlet treats such topics as the motivation for joining the Communist Party, the hard-core member, the rank-and-file member, appeals of communism, communists as maladjusted persons, the idealists, chronic protesters, et cetera. The pamphlet concludes that no matter what the reasons are for persons joining the Communist Party, "they are all corrupt." They have sold out their own countries and their own souls to help spread the tyranny of Soviet communism over the whole world." (Marro 5-10-36, 100-39/1697-

The "Marpers!" magazine article "The Kept Witnesses," reprinted and distributed by the Fund, was circulated in the vicinity of Seattle, Washington, during the period about July-September, 1955, bearing the rubber stamp impression, "Civil Rights Congress, 501 second and Pike Building, Seattle, Washington." 61-10149, 5139, Page 11)

COMPLETED STUDIES AND PROJECTS

Blacklisting in Private Industry

In September, 1954, the fund authorized $100,000 for a study of alleged blacklisting in the motion picture, radio, and television industries under the direction of John Cogley, a member of the Fund's staff. On 6-24-56 the Fund announced that the study had been completed. The Bureau had obtained a copy of Cogley's report in two valuess, a review of which appears in the previous revision of this running nemorandum.

According to the "Washington News" and other Washington, D. C., newspapers, the HCUA held its hearings on the Fund's "Report on Blacklisting" at Washington, D. C., 7/10-13/56 and at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on 7/17, 18/56. According to nowspaper accounts, various witnesses dented that they had formed a "clearance board" for blacklisted individuals These vitnesses also claimed as claimed in Cogley's report. that the report contained incomplete facts, created a false and distorted impression, and omitted much busic material. Cogley refused to reveal the identity of his sources of information. Others who testified during the hearings were: Arnold Forster, general counsel of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith; James: P. O'Keill, former national commander of the American Legion; Frederick Woltman, columnist; Vincent Hartnett, New York radio and TV consultant; Francis McMarara, now engaged in Americantem work for the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Koy M. Brever, former Hollywood labor leader; Godfrey P. Schnidt, New York attorney and president of Aware, Inc., anticommunist organization; Faul R. Milton, a radio writer; Gale Conderguard, actress; and Jack Gilford, actor. George Sokolsky, columnist, was unable to attend the hearing but issued a statement which was read by the committee on 7-11-56. At the conclusion of the hearings Chairman Falter of the HCUA stated that the committee found Cogley's report to be worthless and that there was no evidence developed to indicate blacklisting or clearances in the entertainment industry. SERRET

SERRET.

The Fund's "Deport on Blacklisting," as well as the BUTA's hearing on the report received considerable criticism from various individuals and organizations. In addition to these set forth in the previous revision of instant running memorahum, the following are noted:

Victor Riesel in his syndicated column on 6/26/56 was highly critical of the Fund and its blacklisting report for refusing to identify the anenymous informers used in the preparation of the report. Riesel also questioned the the Government is painted in the image of smattka-land when it attempts to protect the security system which is designed to held off spies. (Riesel is referring to the Covernment's use of confidential informants.) (CC-2542-3-4)

According to an article appearing in the 6/20/50 issue of "Now York World Telegran and Eun," Butchins refused to produce the unnamed informant on whom the Fund's black-listing report relied when it said a powerful "olearance ring" can give or withhold jobs of suspected communicts in the radio and TV industry. (This individual was identified during the NCUA hearings on the report as Arnold Forster, mentioned previously.)

Frederick Voltman, author of the article, denied the statement in the Fund's report linking him with the "clearance ring," Voltman stated that Eutenties, a long-time for of the "facaless informers" in Government accurity cases, stood on the proposition it is entirely proper for the Fund to keep that courses of information confidential. Foltman montioned that, in addition, John Copley, the author of the report, had refused to identify his sources. (103-858386-A)

According to the 7/2/55 issue of "The New York Times," J. Addington Fugner, then commander of the American Legion, criticized the "Deport on Placklisting" as an utterly riduculous and highly melodramatic recital." He also stated that Lutchins "is not only uninstructed on the subject of communism, but his mind seems to be impervious to any understanding of the communist menace." (200-301697+1)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his 7/9/50 broadcast stated that he was then in the process of reviewing the Fund's "Report on Placklisting" and it was typical of the fund for the Republic. He said the whole report was guilty of vagrancy, "meaning it had no means of support." Lewis said that Cogley claimed that a body of security wan formed a board and are in league with the advertising men. These security wan will cut off an artist when there is any indication of subversive activities. Lewis in his broadcast 7-6-56 in referring to the alleged security men stated that both Woltman and Lokoleky, who were named in Cogley's report as forning a clearance board, have denied that any such cet up ever existed. (94-4-2189)

Lobert Nutchins on 7-10-56 made public his letter to Representative Walter of NCLA protosting the methods being used by the Committee in investigating the Fund. Nutchins charged that Valter intended to examine the Fund "on a piece-meal basis." Ne demanded equal time to cross-examine witnesses against the Fund and to present his own witnesses. Na also asked that the Committee give consideration to the Fund's "Three-Year Report" (Distributed on 6-25-58) and to submit any questions about it to the Fund's Board of Directors. (Washington City News Service, 7-11-56; 100-391607-A)

The 7-10-56 issue of the "pashington Post and Times Herald" contained an editorial entitled "Intinication by Inquiry," which was critical of the HCVA's action of subposaing Cogley to answer questions regarding his black-listing report. The editorial states that the Committee's action constitutes a serious abridgment of the freedom of the press and that no writer should be made to reveal names he has undertaken to keep in confidence. (100-391697-A)

An editorial appearing in the 7-13-56 issue of "Commonweal," a lay-Catholic magazine, protested the Countties's subposed of Cogley, claiming that Représentative Walter admitted he had not read Cogley's report, yet subposed him to testify regarding it. The editorial stated that if Walter had read the report he would have found that Cogley's purpose was "to tell the truth." (Washington City News Service, 7-6-56; 100-391697-A)

Representative Walter of the ECCA in a speech on 7-12-56 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, stated that the "Report on Blacklisting" was "about as partison and prejudiced as it is possible to be." He said that the report considers membership in the communist conspiracy as a "political belief" and tries to create the impression that people are being penalized for "beliefs ... by a machinery of persecution which has a bunch of crackpoth at the controls." Ur. Walter added, "Its total is to blacken the name of every organization and svery individual the has sincerely and patriotically been engaged in trying to getarid of communist conspirators in the movies and on radio and television." He stated that the Committee's long study of communist infiltration in the entertainment field has turned up no guidence of a blacklist or the existence of "clearance men" in security matters. ("Nashington Star," 7-13-58; 100-391697-A)

The 7-13-56 issue of the "Fackingian News" contained an editorial stating that the Fund's "Report on Diacklisting" was exposed "for what it was-a fraud conceived in pool-hall morality and executed with grossly questionable scholarship." The editorial added that testimony during the NCUA hearing on the report exposed the report as a "chabby casgle of distortions, essential untruthe and calculated omissions," (100-391697-A)

A. Philip Eandolph, international president of the Brotherhood of Gleeping Car Forters, in a letter to Chairman Walter of the NEUA, defended the Fund. He eaid the Fund is helping to finance causes which are "fundamental to the leader-ehip of the democratic forces of the world by the U.S. against Eussian Coviet community." He eaid that his union hopes "that nothing will be done that may impair the usefulness of this valuable and important movement." (Tashington City News Service, 7-15-56; 100-301607-A) rulton Lewis, Ir., in his syndicated column 7-24-36 stated that the logic of the liberal last against purported blacklisting of pinks entertainers is strained, to say the least. Their theory, he claims, appears to embrace two points: (1) It is utterly wrong to resuse employment to actors and others in the entertainment world simply because they serve communist purposes. (2) It is perfectly all right to discounage individuals from doing business with eincere pro-Americans whose crime is objecting to having any of their money benefit Reds or their sympathizers." (94-4-2169)

Frederick Woltman, columnist, advised Ur. Nichols on 7-25-50 that as a result of an editorial which ran in the "New York World Relegran" (C-29-56) denouncing the Fund's blacklisting report, a letter signed by Elmo Roper, George II. Shuster, Robert Rutchins and Faul Raffman had been sent to the newspaper taking strong exception to the editorial and to Woltman's testimony before the UCLE on the report. Woltman wrote a L3-page brief tearing the letter apart and sent it to Jack Roward (not further identified) in California. Woltman stated that Roffman phoned him on 7-20-56 and commented that while he, Noffman, had signed the abovementioned letter and did not want a retraction, if Noftman would point out where the Fund had done injustice with the blacklisting report, he would issue a public statement. Noffman said he wanted to get together with Woltman to straighten the matter out. (Lamorandum, Michals to Tolson, 7-25-56; 100-391607-A)

"The New York Times" on 8-15-56 published a letter of John Cogley's dated 8-10-58, in which he defended his "Report on Blacklisting." Cogley was critical of the NCVA hearing on his report and intimated that although the NCVA hearings were slanted and hostile, they still established the basic accuracy of the report. It also defended his use of anonymous sources, stating, "I kept my word about not naming sources. I was prepared to go to jail if need be to keep the promises made." (100-301697-A)

On B-17-56 "The New York Times" published a letter dated B-13-56 from George D. Shuster, vice chairman of the Fund's Board of Directors. Shuster commended the newspaper for its editorial on B-4-56 entitled "Nit and Eun," which criticized Representative Valter and EUN for its "arrogant and hit-and-run" hearing on the Fund. Thuster was extremely critical of the Fund's hearing on the report. (100-391697-A)

Copresentative Valter of the CCIA in a letter which appeared in the 8-23-56 issue of "Machington Post and Times Lorald," defended the recent hearing by his Committee on the Fund's blacklisting report. Valter referated that the hearing had determined that there was no blacklisting in entertainment industries as claimed by the Fund's report; that his hearing was not directed at the Plymouth Quaker meeting (a second phase of the hearing) but at the Fund itself, which had made the controversial award to the Quaker library. (100-391697-A)

The Fund on B-23-50 charged Representative Calter with an "inexcusable violation of the investigative process" in releasing private Fund papers to a radio commentator. The Fund said the incident occurred on B-C-56 when Fulton Lewis, Ir., read over the radio a private letter from a Fund employee. The letter was allegedly part of the Fund's files subpoended by the NCIA and linked with an award to the Flywouth Resting Library. It is noted that the letter read by Lewis was written by Elecnor B. Stavenson, a Fund Board of Lirector nember, to S. H. Ferry, Fund vice president, on B-14-50, in which she indicated that the fund would like to have the controversial apard given to the Quaker library returned to the Fund.

The Fund cited the above incident as an example of "hit-and-run tactics" employed by Representative Walter in a "deliberate scheme to discredit the Fund." The letter was signed by board members Elmo Roper, George N. Shuster, Chester Bowles, Oscar Kammerstein II, Charles W. Cole and Jubal R. Parten. (Washington Post and Times Herald, U-29-56; 100-391697-A)

It is noted that Shuster again repeated his oriticism of Representative Walter and the UCVA in a letter which he addressed to the editor of the "Washington Post and Times Herald" and which was published by that newspaper on 9-2-56. (100-391697-A)

According to the 8-30-56 "Washington Post and Times Herald," Representative Walter accused the Fund of using taxeexempt money to run a "multimillion-dollar propaganda machine." This was in answer to the Fund's demand on 8-23-56 that he apologize for allegedly sponsoring a "deliberate toheme to discredit the Fund." Walter said his Committee not anly will not apologize for its recent investigation of the Fund's activities but soon will launch full-scale hearings to determine whether the Fund is "friend or foe" in our death struggle against Soviet communism." Walter said the hearings already have indicated that the Fund's tax-exempt money has been used for "political subversion." (100-391697-4)

Federal Toyalty-Security Program

In November, 1954, the FFB made a grant of $100,000 to the Association of the Ear of the City of New York for the appointment of a special committee to make an appraisal of the Loyalty-Security Program of the Rederal Government.

According to the July 9, 1956, issue of "The Evening Star" newspaper, Washington, D. C., the New York Ear Association had completed the above-mentioned study and recommended that the Government's personnel security system should be maintained "to help counter the continuing communist threat," but sweeping changes are needed to "correct the weaknesses" in it. The committee found these weaknesses in the Security Programs. "I. Lack of coordination and supervision of the several programs. 2. Coverage of many jobs that have 'no circumstantial relationship to national security. 3. Failure of security standards and criteria to permit a common sense judgment on the whole record. 4. Failure of procedures to give enough protection to the Government and to the employees." (100-391697-A)

Assistant Attorney General George Cochran Doub of the Department's Civil Division spoke on 8-27-56 before the American Bar Association's Criminal Law Section meeting at Dallas, Texas. Mr. Doub announced that the Government is preparing a new order that will limit the Federal security program to sensitive jobs only. He praised a report recently completed by the Bar Association of New York City under a grant from the Fund for the Republic which evaluated the Government's security program. Doub added that the report was given "the most careful consideration" by the Justice Department. (Washington Post and Times Herald, 8-28-56; 100-391697-A)

Distribution of Books, Articles and Other Material

In March, 1956, the Fund issued 5,000 copies of 3 phonograph records entitled "The Trial of Socrates," "Apology," and "Crito" under the program of distributing audio books. The dialogues were read by movie actor Thomas Mitchell and the records were recorded by the Audio Book Company, St. Joseph, Michigan.

The above records were obtained by the Bureau and reviewed by the Central Research Section. Briefly, the records recount the trial of Socrates, regarded as a danger to the state. The entire selection is extremely flexible for propaganda purposes, as Socrates could symbolize the nonconformist defending his right of freedom of speech. In a foreword to the records, Robert Butchins states that then, as now, endangering the reputation of influential men is regarded as a danger to the state. It is noted that for propaganda purposes Socrates could also be effectively used to symbolize liberals, non-conformists, and even communists. (100-391697-404,414,416)

In May, 1956, the Fund publicly announced that it would finance and distribute 50,000 copies of a Department of Defense pamphlet entitled, "The Are the Communists and Why?" The Bureau previously obtained and reviewed this pamphlet, which takes a simple but strong stand against all communism. It does not mention the Bureau and contains no information which is not already known to the Bureau. No slanting of material has been observed in this pamphlet, which apparently is being distributed by the Fund to offset any of the previous complaints that it has been distributing anti-anti-communist literature. Integration: North and South

According to the 10/29/56 "Mashington Post and Times Herald," the Fund announced the completion of a survey of integration in the North and South Since the Supreme Court's 1954 ruling against segregation in public schools. The results of this survey were published in a 120-page book entitled "Integration: North and South," written by David Loth and Rarold Fleming under a grant from the Fund.

According to the article, the survey indicates, "There is no longer a Solid South of segregation." Fleming, who surveyed the South, said he found a "large reservoir of good will and capacity for change exists among private citizens, even in states where the official climate is harshly defiant." He also said he found 1100 instances of desegregation in schooling, housing, transportation, employment and public accommodations. Firtually all of them took place smoothly and harmoniously. Loth, who surveyed the North, said his report was "frankly one-sided. It is a list of specification in the integration of Hegroes into the community life of the northern (and southern) Inited "tates."

Detailed summaries concerning Loth and Fleming may be found in Bufile 100-391697-432.

Industrial Fersonnel Security Review Program	Referral/Consult

Communism and Civil Liberties

The 12/10/56 issues of "The New York Times" and the "New York Herald Tribune" reflected an article by Walter Millis, consultant for the Fund, in which he analyzed the current Communist Party (CP) program as set forth in the Party's draft resolution to be presented at its national conference scheduled for February 9,12, 1957, in New York City.

The above articles were reviewed by the Internal Security Section, which review reflects that it appears that Milis has made a factual and accurate analysis of the Communist Party's new draft resolution. Millis points out that the draft resolution confesses past Party errors and weaknesses which have isolated it from the masses in this country. The Party's new objective is to expand its mass work by re-establishing a position in labor unions, with the Negro people, and in schools and colleges. Millis points out further that although the Farty is proclaiming to be a peaceful organization and operating independently of Moscow, it is the same old Communist Farty with its former aims of a Soviet America unchanged. The Fund announced that Millis' articles would be distributed by them in the form of a pamphlet entitled "Communism and Civil Liberties."

Copies of the above pamphlet have been obtained by the Bureau and reviewed by the Internal Security Section. The review revealed the above analysis by Millie. This review was set forth in detail in memorandar from Mr. Belmont to Mr. Boardman dated December 11 and 19, 1956, and captioned "Communist Party, USA, IS - C, Bufile 100-3-"5794, 5804; 100-391697-444

Regarding the above pumphlet, "Communism and Civil Liberties," Leon Racht in his column appearing in the 12/15/56 "Sun Telegraph," a Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, newspaper, states that the Fund's distribution of this article appears to be an attempt to launder some of its left-wing linen publicly. Eacht states that the "vague fustion style that marks Hillis' scribblings makes this tract virtually undecipherable to the reader at large." He states that the Fund has apparently reversed its field in the matter of anti-anti-communism and may be used by the Fund as some sort of a defense in the up-coming probe of the HCVA into the charge that the Fund has been "soft" on the dangers of communism. Blacklisting in Private Industry

The February 9, 1957, issue of the "Scturday Evening Post," contains an editorial which criticizes the Fund's "Report on Blacklisting," as being biased incomuch as it failed to present both sides of the story. The Fund's report, released in June, 1956, purports to show that there is blacklisting in the entertainment industry of individuals having subversive backgrounds. It has been highly criticized as hissed and incomplete since publication. (100-289799-47)

DISTRIBUTION OF BOOKS, ARTICLES AND OTHER NATERIALS

"Communism and Civil Liberties"

The 1/4/57 issue of the "Vashington Star," contained an editorial favorable to the Fund's pauphlat, "Communism and Civil Liberties," prepared by Valter Willis. The pauphlet warns that the Communist Party would attempt to fool the public by putting on a new disguise. Actually the American press on 1/3/57 reported that the Communist Party, New York State leaders are proposing to present a plan to change the name of the Communist Party and step forth as a "nonparty political action association." The plan will be presented at a national convention of the Communist Party in February, 1957. It is noted that copies of the above pamphlet have been obtained by the Bureau and reviewed by the Internal Security Section. (100-391697-A; 100-391697-444; 100-3-5794, 5904)

Irving Fernan, Eashington representative of the American Civil Libertles Union, by letter 1/7/57 forwarded a letter dated 1/3/57 which he had received from Adam Farmolinsky, secretary of the Fund for the Republic. Formalinsky stated "I see by the publisher to trade journals that the Rosenstiel Foundation is distributing 25,000 copies of The FDI Story." This would seem to make any affort on our part superfluous. Anyway the book is clearly a best-seller." (62-101660-31)

CO-CENTRA STEATER AND PROJECTS

Blacklisting in Private Industry

Wr. Nichola by memorandum 5/10/57 reported that while talking to Don Appel of the House Committee on Un-American Activities on other matters, Appel told him that he has been working on the study on blacklisting, that he feels they now have the Fund for the Republic behind the eight ball, that Coyley has printed as fact unconfirmed information, and that income tax records show that all the employees working on the project were paid by the Fund for the Republic. There was no grant to Cogley to carry this on as an independent project; therefore, it must be concluded that this is the work of the Fund.

Appel further stated they have talked to several people mentioned in the report who repudiated what was printed therein; that next to Cogley the conduct of Arnold Foreter was reprehensible; that it was Forster who claimed that Victor Riesel got $1500; that it was Forster who claimed that Riesel paid $350 each to Jack Rad, Karl Caarslag and an individual named Reuser; and that it was Forster who had involved George Cokoleky. He stated they were trying to subpoen Cogley's records and Cogley has told the Committee that he will answer no more questions, that there may be a high price that he will have to pay but "please God I will be ready to pay it." This means that if Cogley comes before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, he is headed for a contempt citation.

The Committee has secured originals of letters pritten by Cogley to the Block brug Company and a reporter named Horton of "Reporter Magazine," wherein Cogley stated he made no promise to keep confidential the information he secured. Thus, when Cogley declines to furnish information and the Committee produces these letters, the fat will be in the fire. (62-103025-3)

In connection with the above, Scholaky about 5/0/57 pent Ur. Nichols a chronology prepared by Kelvin Picck which purports to set forth his action in counteracting adverse.

publicity offorded a radio program sponsored by the Block Drug Company. The chronology also reflects Block's contacts with John Cogley and members of his staff in connection with the preparation of Cogley's "Report on Placklisting." (62-109095-3; 100-360022-432)

According to an article appearing in the 5/18/57 issue of "The How York Times," John Cogley has been subposenced for a second appearance before the HCM. He previously appeared before that committee in July, 1956, in connection with his "report on Placklisting," in the entertainment industry and refused to identify his sources of information or turn over his files.

According to the article, Committee Chairman Walter states on 9/17/57 that the committee had reports to the effect that Coyley had not kept his information sources as inviolate to other sources as he had to the committee. It was indicated that the new subscend for Coyley was for the purpose of obtaining from him the documents that he had withheld on his first appearance, rather than for further questioning on the contents of his books. It was pointed out that should Coyley refuse to comply with the second subposed he could be cited for contents. (109-31637-A)

Concerning the above, the "Daily Vorter," on 6/18/57 reported that Cogley in response to the MCJA's second subpoend replied by letter that he will answer no more questions about anything he has written and published. Cogley stated further that he also would not supply the MCJA the documents it demanded. According to the paper, the Committee subsequently announced that they were "indefinitely postponing" Cogley's second appearance before them. (10)-331637-A)

A copy of Cogley's "Seport on Blacklisting" may be found in Eufile 100-831637-436. A copy of the HCJA's July, 1056, hearing on the report is contained in Buffle 100-331037-436, 440.

The "Eschington, D. C. "Localng Star" of Locateder 6, 1057, carried an article on pg. A-L3 captioned "La-Frococutor Attacks Las Strotag Controls" which reflected that Lamuel Lase, former Lietriet Attarney of Fulladelphia had consisted a opecial atual on wiretapping for the Pennsylvania Car Association which was financed by the Sund for the Republic. (See Fort IV, pg. 185)

According to the britale lash, while speaking before the Lational Association of Count, and Propecuting Attornate at Lan Francisco, California stated that the "Anches that association to taped your telephone grow stranger every day." Lash said that although wiretapping is on the increase in the United States, enforcement of less against it was so last as to be "abominable." "The growth of wiretapping is in such fields as labor, politics and Lusiness and by private detectives sacking evidence in marital cases and there is "an inclination by District Attornays not to head less against wiretapping."

The news article further reflected that Desh adid, "Decistors have turned to atretapping, too. I have found they have the best electronic equipment for their job. Deem of you may picule around with place or $2,000 or $2,000 with of equipments, but the racketeer who goes in for wiretarping multiplies that by 10 times." Deem eited Deston as the only exception and eads, "Although December has a law permitting piraterping by police, the top calcles of the Deston Police Courtment so, they don't use it because it is dirty business and they don't think it is especially usoful."

Dach candided that if district atternate and prescutors want to gin the right to use piretage in criminal cases they will first have to carn public respect by prescuting private wire-tappers. CD-100310 A

Internal Crementat Pancea Project

The ECUA report of its findings regarding the FTD reflected, in part, as follows concurring this project: "To determine not if four emisted, but the estant of the fear was encompassed in the Fund's first project. This project started put to determine the estant of the "Internal Communist Lenate" but when the suppositions were not supported by the research, it became an attitude survey, Reclies to say, the survey did not locate the saidance of fear. Lestered by income the saidance which was obtained by incoment funds. According to

The lieu fork Times of February 10, 1950, Lutchine in a speech claimed the plaments within the country, either because of real fear or tecause they have seen political adventote in capitalizing on the fears of others, have sought to suspend or weaken the purrantees of the Bill of Bights. "

Study of Committee Influence in Later Comments of Polited States Contacty

The LIVA report of the findings recarding the EFA roflected that cocording to the D-year report of the Fund the Loand of directors in Lovember, 1983, buthorized a study of communiat influences in major segments of United States bootety. The LUVA node on examination of the minutes of the board recting hold on Revenber 10, 1953 and learned that it was not communist influences which was the subject matter voted upon, rather the directors appropriated $250,000 for a "Definite listory of Communica in the United States." The minuted of a meeting held on June 53, 105d, reflected that the board decided to modify the acope of the utstory of the GPUIA into smaller projects which would consider: "(a) analysis of Consuntar copionage and (b) infiltration and indoctrination nothedd, with exphasis on the study of infiltration of groups such as unions, tecohers, etc. and the nethods used by such proups to turn took Communist infiltration." The MCOA report reflected a statement by the project director Clinton Loositer thich appeared to show different objectives of the project. Resistor stated be hoped that his chief would reduce sharply note of the notorious confusion about the influence of communion that now player fitte policies, political debate, and intellectual purpose in this country. The LCCA report reflected that the LOVA devoted many hours to recearch into the beckground of the direators and acholars of the fund project, and found, after an eccatnation of their critings, that a rejority possessed a bias toward their subjects which nece then incorpetent to cocurately partray feetual data thich would tone to contradict that bias. (Fy. D's of LOUA report)

Monklisting in Private Industry

The ISVA report of its findings regarding the FFB reflected that the ESSA had investigated "blocklicating" operating in 1951, and found it was a word primarily used by the CP to pressure for the continued exployment of a fellow communist or his re-employment if he had been fired.

Decarating the FFD's project on "Diceblisting," which resulted in the publication of a two-volume report by John Corles, The ECUA report reflected, "It was designed to re-metalish explosions apportunities for members of the E2 in the vital area of radio and telepision! (Fg. C2 of ECUA report)

Regarding John Cogley, director of the Diceklisting project who refused to identify the anonymus sources of information wood in his report, the EUN report reflected, "Cogley's claim that he emmet divulce squice Decays of confidential accurance which he and the Fund employees gave those interpleted in a lie, provable as such, by Cogley himself." The EUN report documented this obtained by quoting a letter written by Cogley on Recenter 17, 1823, to one of his "anonymous" sources who complained that Cogley had broken his confidence. "Grote Cogley with respect to assured you I had not shown the material to anyone, I wide no promise at that time that I would not. I have no desire to show it to anyone, but when my reticence is used against to anyone, but when my reticence is used against to any peopension."

"Commare this with Cocley's emorn teetiment that he had given his ecurees assurances that they would remain anonymous." (For 70 of LIVA report)

Problem Acorda Progres

The report of the COUA regarding its findings conversing the Fold reflected that early in 1004 Arms Lord Ctraves, an effected of the Lasyve of Voxen Veters, commenced informal discussion with the president of the Fold. Her purpose for approaching the sund was to ceek a grant of wancy to come a "climate of fear and pushfold" which had been "generated in this country by wany factors," described as "the prolonged cold war, restrictive security measures, the national called capaline, and the emotional strain caused by the Korean conflict."

According to the ECTA report, the FRI was prohibited by law to engage in political activities, or the influencing of legislation, and therefore could not appropriate to the League of Vacon Fotoro. Anna Lord Straugo was investigated by the Turscu in Lay and June, 1937, as a United Fations unployee. Duffles reflect that in 1933, Liss Alrayee and the League of Momen Fotors were in harmony with the communist controlled American Labor Farty in urging the Covernor of New York to veto proceed legislation which would for from teaching, in the classified sivil vervice system, persons who believe in the overtires of dur Covernment. Luffles also reflect Miss Straugo was also a epissor of a CP front organization (no date outlied) and in 1933 was a spinsor of a luncheon in hence of a former CP weater. Alfred N. Kelly, Professor, Fagne University,

Ca C-15-40 his name appeared on a "List for Consoring Consisted for Lichigan Congress for Freedom of Light Dramber," (Canoral Locratary of the UP, U.S.A. in 1949). In 1945,

Kelly's name appeared on a list described as a List of financial contributors and sponsors in Wichigan to the American Fouth for Desperay (FID). In 1950, Kelly was reported to have said that he had no objections to communiat teachers as long as they taged thair subject matter without a communial class. In August and Captenter, 1955, Kelly was the subject of a controversy in the Letroit, Lichigan, area when, according to a newspaper article, the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described him as a contributor and supporter of the Army described with a facility of the Army drucker lossed a statement to the press continuous that a mistake was well as the allegation against Kelly. (CC-10610-1, 11, 13, 61)

Concerning the Freedon Agenca Program, the LIVA report reflected that the LOVA investigation note auteont certain accumptions as follows:

- 1. The Treedom Agenda Program was principly under the leadership of the League of Young Taters.
- i. The programs were not intended to reaffirm the approvals expressed by the people of such things co dengressional investigations of communion, locally-society programs, resource of communiots from education, or of legislavion such as the Caith, Legaran, and Internal Courty Acts.
- i. The Fil's appropriation to the Carrie Chapman Cath Lapprial Fund was for the purpose of persitting the Fund to engage in copiuities which neither it nor the League of Veren Katera could do with tox-exempt money.

The SILA report further reflected that certain Freedom

the orticles written for discussion as part of the Freedom opposition to logislative investigations of communion, opposition to the removal of communists from positions in the Covernment or in Cefence facilities or colleges, and opposition to legislation such as the Unith and Interval

Fellowship and Grant-in-Aid Frances

Fig calle report of its findings regarding the Fill reflected that the Three-Year Laport of the Fill reflected the Fund had expended JLJ4.260 up to May, 1020, on this regree. The FVD cented the LJVA access to its recorse and the LJVA was unable to determine hem much in additional funds was expended on this project. The LJVA report reflected that most of the studies under this project, expluding those relating to religious and rectal matters, related in some may to the interest of the UP and its remover. The LJVA was unable to locate a single study which produced an objective discussion of the problems invalued to the field of study. The LJVA study of many of the recipients of fellowships and grants—in-aid demonstrated them to possess a projudice in relationship to their area of inquiry. The recipients of the grants, in many instance, had been publicly preclaiming their projudice over a great many pages. The Hell knew of the estatence of this projudice and utilized it by making grants to these pagessing a projudice.

The board of directors of the Fund placed into the hands of fund President Lutchins, and the officers under his control, the responsibility of Cateraining three things: that the subject was in the interest of the Fund, determine the judgment of the recipient and constructive. The Luub report reflected that under those criteria autohing determines that someone sharing opinions similar to his, possesses nature judgment; that his tork to constructive; and the program falls within the interest of the fund.

The AGUA report of its findings regarding the Will reflected that on June CD, 1005 the FFB announced it had awarded (5,000 to a Cacker Lecting in Plymouth Lecting, Fenneylucaids for "courage and effective defense of democratic principles in refusing to dismise a librarian who would not take the Fenneylucaid loyalty cath." The AGUA report reflected that this award was approved on May 10, 1005 and the enduing period had been used by the efficient of the Tell to bet its advategy on a procaganda cancaign. A penciled note on a many of the FFB dated June CD, 1005 read "F. Loffman wants to see this on the front page of everything."

for July 0, 1005 Line. Fleator D. Ctovenoon, of the board of directors of the Fru presented the award to the Flymouth Lenthly Feeting and stated that the award was made because of an unfair attack on Many Encelog. Are, Diovensor wished the Plymouth Conthly Leating knew the attack was unfair tecause the Jeaton Feerial Library committee had water and paintating investigation prior to hiring Lary Enquies and found her to be a logal Leation.

The ECCA report reflected that the Jeance Ecoprial Dibrary Compitee had conducted no investigation into Lary Encules's background and according to Early Encules's testimony before the ECCA, they did not seen ask her if the was a Computet Forty member.

The LDUA report also pointed out that the Jeanes Lemorial Library Committee know that Angules had been consider to leave her forcer position because she implied the fifth amendment while testifying and "cas unutiling to confirm or dany to our deard of Trustees (Aurrill Librarial Library) her comparable in the Committe Furth." (Fig. 43)

In order to realize the propagands value of the Lary Knowles Apart the Lain report reflected that Joseph Lyford, "the Fund's top propagandies, went to work even before the fund for the Legaplic announced its main." His national negatives were furntained with the FRA vertion of the controversy, which was an edited version of the 1/1 investigative report which recommended the sward and included falce statements regarding Kory Enquies. In addition the FRA financed a telepision news clip, which was prepared prior to the date of the ward and marked for reloces at the proofes hour and date of the carre. The LAVA report shows the telepision clip to be migleading and deceivful.

The LIM report of the findings regarding the Fill reflected the officers of the FID had approved an award in penalf of Dr. Cookin Ratson, which was similar to the Lary Encyles award. The officers of the FID approved the award, decided on the award, recommended it to the Fund's board of directors and them sent Hoursen Block Cyden to make the investigation. The LUM report reflected, By the time the Fund for the Depublic got around to even considering the award to a medical center and to Community Chest grows, in up-State Rev York, there was not even a centroparty remaining. Dr Fateen had been retained by the medical center in a concultant capacity. Maureen Dlock Cyden made no independent investigation of the focus currounding Dr. Cooketh Fateen. Lie interviewed only those individuals who supported the action of retaining Dr. Noteon.

According to the LICA teport the only purpose that could be served by this cuard was the encouragement of organisations to hire individuals who have long records for support of communicat causes. The USA report reflected that the directors of the ITA on Loventer 17, 1005, reconsidered their cotion and suspended the award they had previously voted. In suspending the award the FIS withheld its cotion from the press in contrast to a nationalco press release at the first the award was made.

In June, 1857, the MIJA inquired of the FFIX the reason for evending the evert and was told the cation was initiated by the numbers of the body of directors at a meeting and the files did not reflect any reason for the eventson. (Fg. 183)

Concerning Ir. Watson, the LUIA report reflected that the Congress of the U. S. encoted legislation to withold funds for the position once held by Watson in order to remove him from the Rederal Payroll. The legislation was "knocked down" and kateon continued to surport equest, including the communist-directed rists which revolved around Faul Robison's appearance in Toutokill, B. I. He as been a withesa before the Committee on In-American Autivities and has consistently and publicly called for its abolishment. (Fg. 125)

PREEDOM IN THE TELEVISION INDUSTRY

The "Vashington Post and Times Herald" of April 17, 1958, carried an article on page B-12 captioned "Fund Lees TV News Freedom Curb" which reflected that the FFR had sponsored a study and issued a 15-page report regarding the television industry's freedom to gather news. The report was written by Herbert Mitgang, an editor in the Sunday Department of "The New York Times," who had not been previously identified with the FFR. According to the article Mitgang a study indicated that the television industry did not enjoy the same freedom as the American newspapers in its role as news gatherer and broadcaster. As an example of the curb on the freedom of television the study cited the criticism leveled against the Columbia Broadcasting System's televised interview with Soutet Leader Mikita S. Khrushchev. Mitgang's report stated the President of the U.S. made a statement which "implied oriticism" and important members of Congress openly challenged the visdom of the presentation."

A summary of information contained in Bufiles re-Herbert Mitgang may be found in 100-391697-508.

The "Bulletin" of the FFR dated May, 1958, reflected Uitgang's report was entitled "FREEDOW TO SEE: The Khrushchev Broadcast and its Meaning for Television." (Dureau library)
